Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi! I just never know what the daily mail is going to bring me. Answering the postman's ring is one of the biggest adventures of my life.

Right now, my fan mail is all very sane and the majority of it consists of good luck messages from Victorians. Of course, I also get quite a flood of business mail.

But it isn't always like this; sometimes my personal mail makes me laugh, sometimes it makes me cry and sometimes it is so crazy it lands in the waste-paper basket after I read the first paragraph.

The letters I remember best were the ones I got after I succeeded in swimming the Catalina Channel after failing in my first attempt.

I received one letter from a married couple who said I had saved their marriage.

It seemed they had been on the verge of divorce for some time. The night they saw me on television, they had a terrific argument and agreed to split up.

They weren't speaking to each other so they turned on the TV set and saw me swimming. They became so fascinated by the swim that they sat there all night, until they saw me complete the swim.

In their letter they told me, "After seeing you swim through that cold, rough water for 14 hours, we felt that if you had the courage to keep with it, our little differences didn't mean much. We haven't even thought of a divorce since and are having the happiest days of our marriage. We owe it all to you."

Another letter at the same time was in a slightly different vein. This was from a young U.S. marine who said, "Baby, I saw you swim on TV and you're terrific. How about you and me centring our little differences and my experience, we could make a million."

Then there was the promoter who wanted me to swim across the Atlantic Ocean, from New York to Liverpool.

The idea was, I boarded an ocean liner at New York, jumped into a swimming pool and stayed there, paddling away, until the boat reached England. This, according to the fellow who wrote the letter, was swimming the Atlantic ocean.

'DISTURBING', SAYS JUDGE

Three Evatt Aides Named in Spy Probe

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—An Australian judge told a spy probe hearing today it is "disturbing" that three members of the Australian Labor party leader's staff were mentioned in a Communist-inspired document as sources of information.

Nothing in the document reflects upon Dr. Herbert Evatt, leader of the federal Labor opposition party, the judge said. "What is disturbing is that three members of his staff are mentioned as sources of information, some of it confidential."

Only one of these, Fergan O'Sullivan, was named in the inquiry. O'Sullivan, aged about 27 and an Australian newspaper man, is a former press secretary to Evatt.

Owen said the author of "document J" had mentioned other sources of information including another of Evatt's secretaries who holds a high position in political life.

A third member of Evatt's staff was mentioned as having his photograph in security files.

Mendes-France Races to Meet Zero Hour

French Premier Talks to Eden, Molotov on Indo-China Terms

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today his urgent talks with the British and French in Paris brought an understanding on Indo-China "much more complete than has heretofore existed."

"I believe that we have found a formula for constructive Allied unity which will have a beneficial effect on the Geneva conference and it carries no danger that the United States will abandon its principles," Dulles said on his return here from his sudden trip to Paris.

GENEVA (UP)—The West worked out new Indo-China peace proposals today that would permit French Premier Pierre Mendes-France to obtain an honorable cease-fire before his Monday deadline.

'DEATH MARCH'

Fort Heroes Walk 450 Miles In Six Weeks

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—The French high command said today many of the 10,000 French Union prisoners captured at Dien Bien Phu died during an exhausting 450-mile "death march" to Viet-Minh Communist prison camps.

Sick and wounded prisoners released by the Communists today told of a harrowing, five-week march through jungles and ankle-deep mud after the fall of the Dien Bien Phu fortress last May, the high command said.

The men were totally worn out after two months of desperate fighting. But they were forced to push on through torrential rain with almost no assistance from their Communist rebel guards.

Exhausted prisoners who slumped into the oozing mud were usually left without aid, the released soldiers said. There were no stretchers for collapsing marchers though a few men got rides on water buffaloes.

Dien Bien Phu, isolated French fortress in northwest Indo-China, fell May 7 after a two-month siege by overpowering Viet Minh rebel forces.

Dies in Dentist Chair

OTTAWA—Raymond Whisell, 12-year-old suburban Eastview boy who died in a dentist's chair Wednesday, had been given chloroform, but there was no indication that he had been given an overdose, coroner Dr. Harry Dover said today.

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier ordered an inquest, and set the date for Aug. 12.

Tory Official Claims Visit 'Just Holiday'

A high-ranking Conservative organizer today denied her visit to Victoria this week has any connection with the inter-party battle now raging in B.C.

Miss Hilda Hesson, national organizer for the Conservative Women's Association, said she is "out here for a holiday, and nothing else."

She arrived in the city on the eve of Saturday's crucial executive meeting at Vernon, when strong anti-Drew factions in the party will move a vote of non-confidence in national leader George Drew.

"Naturally I'm interested," she said, "but I'm an outsider. Mr. Drew I know is very strong in the party, and if they wanted to make such a fuss they could have forced a leadership vote at the national meeting in Toronto this spring."

She told her British officer partners that her feet were killing her and sat out the second half of the ball.

For more than four hours the younger sister of Queen Elizabeth danced with some of the 600 officers.

Although the dance was billed as a young man's affair by Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander of British forces in Germany, the Princess danced almost exclusively with married men, most of them well over 30.

For the entire second half of the evening Margaret sat chat-

STEWARDESS TELLS OF SHOTS IN AIRCRAFT

'Jungle-Hungry' Man Tries To Seize Victoria-Bound Plane

By The Canadian Press
Isabel Abraham, 24-year-old Trans-Canada Airlines stewardess, thinks it's "funny" she didn't faint when a gunman fired two shots at her while trying to commandeer a TCA plane in Seattle Wednesday.

The Vancouver stewardess said she was in the plane's washroom when a husky 21-year-old farmhand, identified as Edmund Andrew Eddie Marmur of Tacoma, Wash., boarded the Victoria-bound plane.

"I had just come out to the plane about 10 minutes before the flight was called," Miss Abraham said on her arrival here Wednesday night, two hours behind schedule.

"There weren't supposed to be any passengers aboard yet so I came out to see who it was."

"He was sitting in a front seat. He mumbled something about going to Canada and when I got up beside him he pulled the gun and told me to sit down."

"I ran out of the aircraft and he fired two shots after me. It's funny I didn't faint, but I guess you don't faint at a time like that."

In a signed statement, Marmur said he planned to commandeer the plane to Africa because he always "wanted to live in the jungle."

Marmur's first shot ripped through the plane's fuselage about halfway along the passenger compartment and narrowly missed first officer J. R. Davidson of Vancouver, who was approaching the plane on the apron at the Seattle-Tacoma international airport.

The second bullet pierced a cargo door and tore through the tail of the plane, Davidson said. "I heard the first shot as I walked to the plane," he added.

"I didn't know what it was. When I got to the ramp, the stewardess rose out past me—she didn't even stop to say 'hello.'"

"The second shot was fired just as she came through the door."

ORDERED OUT
After police were summoned Marmur was ordered to throw out his gun and leave the plane. Commenting on this stage of the incident, Capt. Al Dodd of Vancouver said Marmur threw the gun at one of the policemen's faces but missed.

"It went off a third time when he hit the ground," Dodd said. "He had a full clip in it. It was really murderous."

In his statement to police, Marmur contended he did not intend to hit Miss Abraham. He said he bought the pistol Tuesday in Tacoma and took a bus Wednesday to the airport.

"When I got off the bus I went in the woods and loaded the gun. Then I went to the administration building and walked out to the plane—it was standing on the airport apron, with a door open."

After airport authorities had inspected the plane, the holes in the fuselage were taped up and the aircraft continued its flight to Victoria and Vancouver.

"The plane landed down at Patricia Bay Airport at 5:40 p.m., two hours behind schedule."

Coffin Pleads Innocence; Judge Warns Newsmen

PERCE, Que. (BUP)—Wilbert Coffin, charged with the murder of an American bear hunter, pleaded "not guilty" and said he was "ready" to go on trial for his life when he made his initial appearance in court here today.

Earlier during the trial opening Mr. Justice Gerard LaCroix turned down two defense motions designed to assure the English-speaking Coffin that the trial would be held in his own language.

Coffin, a prospector and jack-of-all trades, went on trial for his life in the little grey stone Perce courthouse at 10 a.m.

The first motion by defense attorney Raymond Maher was that all courtroom remarks be made in English. LaCroix remarked that the actual trial had not yet started, and said he would permit preliminaries to be discussed in either English or French.

Then after 35 of 150 talesmen were excused from duty and the court ordered another 150 Gaspé fishermen and farmers to be subpoenaed, Maher asked that all of them be English-speaking.

Coffin was brought here by a police escort during the night and was placed in the lone cell of the village jail, which is on the ground floor at the rear of the court house. Three rows of barbed wire were added to the top of a 15-foot fence which surrounds the building before the accused arrived.

JAILED FOR YEAR
The 43-year-old veteran bushman had been in jail at Quebec City for a year after being charged with the murder of Richard Lindsay, 17, of Haldimand, Pa. The mutilated body of the young bear hunter was found a year ago near a long-dead campfire 65 miles west of here in the primeval Gaspé bush.

Scattered nearby were parts of the remains of Richard's 47-year-old father, Eugene, and his friend, Albert Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Police said it was obvious the three men had not only been shot, they had been carved with knives and then gnawed by the huge black Gaspé bears who have never been known to attack a live human.

Czechs Free U.S. Troops After 12 Days

WAIDHAUS, Germany (UP)—Czech border guards carrying machine guns released seven U.S. soldiers today after holding them prisoner for 12 days on trumped-up spy charges.

The Americans walked to freedom through the barbed-wire-lined streets of this village on the Iron Curtain frontier after West German and Red Czech border guards had solemnly exchanged "receipts" for their safe return to U.S. army custody.

The seven, headed by Capt. Jack M. Davis of Raytown, Mo., were seized by the Reds when they wandered across the forbidden Communist frontier on a July 4 outing.

Newsmen were denied permission to talk to the men until U.S. intelligence officers questioned them about their 12 days in Czech Communist hands.

SPECIAL SESSION
City Council is expected to be called to a special meeting, probably early next week, now the appointment has been made.

Col. Baldwin was chairman of the Labor Relations Board from Jan., 1951, until early last month when he resigned and took up the post of managing secretary with the Roadbuilding and Heavy Construction Association of B.C.

He has been a prominent figure in B.C. since the war. He served for a time as B.C. superintendent for the Veterans' Land Act and after the disastrous Fraser River flood in 1948 acted as commissioner of Fraser Valley rehabilitation.

No date has yet been set for the arbitration hearings to begin.

Vancouver Greet Aussie B.E.G. Team

VANCOUVER (CP)—Seventy-two athletes and managers with the Australian British Empire Games team arrived here early today with enough champions with them to indicate top placing for the "down under" country in the games.

The contingent, one of the largest athletic airflights on record, arrived aboard the Canadian Pacific Airlines Empress of Rio de Janeiro from Honolulu.

Strains of "Waltzing Matilda" came over a mobile loudspeaker unit at the international airport as the group filed off the plane.

John Michael Landy, world record miler, arrived Wednesday and was given a reception equal to that of the larger group.

Landy became an Australian national hero when he was clocked at 3:58.0 for the mile run, breaking the "dream mile" record of England's Roger Bannister.

Ex-LRB Chief To Arbitrate Civic Strike

D'Arcy Baldwin
Named By Wicks

Col. D'Arcy J. Baldwin, MBE, former chairman of the B.C. Labor Relations Board, will arbitrate the wage dispute between the city and members of its outside working staff.

Col. Baldwin's appointment was made known today to both parties involved in the dispute, in identical letters sent by the labor department. Selection of Col. Baldwin was made by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

It is his duty now to call both the city and the union to present their arguments relative to the wage dispute which caused last month's civic strike.

The 250 outside workers were off for two weeks, and returned to work only on the condition the issue would be explored by an arbitrator appointed by the labor minister and that his decision would be binding on both sides.

City Council is expected to be called to a special meeting, probably early next week, now the appointment has been made.

Col. Baldwin was chairman of the Labor Relations Board from Jan., 1951, until early last month when he resigned and took up the post of managing secretary with the Roadbuilding and Heavy Construction Association of B.C.

BLOOD MONEY: In Ulica, N.Y., a pint of blood will fix a parking ticket. Starting Monday for a two-week period, a $1 or $3 parking ticket fine, depending on the violation, can be paid in full by the donation of a pint of blood. The plan was devised because of a recent lag in volunteer blood donations.

THE LOVERS: In Belle Island, Nfld., a couple have been married after one-month courtship.

The bride was 85, and the groom 71.

Mrs. Sarah Reid, for 35 years a widow, walked down the aisle of the church with Syl Reid, a retired miner. Syl said he bought a "spanking new white shirt" for the big event. He also has built a new house.

A relative said "they were smiling to beat the band" when they left the church.

Beatty's Circus Cats? —Strictly From Hunger

Customers Claim He Counts His Limbs After Every Show in the Animal Cage

By PETE LOUDON

The greatest wonder of all the wonders under the big top at the Clyde Beatty Circus surely is the fact the famous animal trainer has survived 22 years in his hair-raising business.

Spectators at Wednesday's two performances at Victoria West Park swear he paused to count his arms and legs each time he stepped from the cage.

If you subscribe to the theory that Clyde's big cats just pretend to be tough, that they are harmless tabbies, have rubber teeth or are strictly vegetarians—cross over the bridge, brother.

In a special between show unveiling for the Times, Beatty showed his battle scars. Some parts of his anatomy look like a well-washed apple core. Those cats are strictly from hunger.

Billed as the world's largest and most dangerous group of trained wild animals, his 12 black-maned lions and three royal Bengal tigers easily steal the show.

The snapping, snarling, striking furies leap from high pedestals, chase their tails, roll over and sit up and beg. But they have to be driven to it.

The "driving" takes whip, gun, prodding chair and rivers of sweat.

FIRE BLANKS

The gun fires blanks and an attendant hands Beatty fresh pistols as the act progresses. He never draws the pearl-handled revolver carried in his hip holster, but fires a smaller pistol held in the same hand that holds a chair.

Most people think that the holstered gun must be loaded with live rounds for emergency use, but the truth is it's empty and just for show. Clyde says he once carried a blank-loaded pistol in the holster and a lion's paw caused it to fire.

He was just out of hospital after an earlier mauling and his right thigh was still swathed in bandage. The explosion of the hanging thriller called "The Glow Worm."

Saddest looking stars are the elephants. But watching them walk an eight-inch plank or parade around the ring on their hind legs are big moments to the kiddies.

The pantomime and buffoonery of the clowns, the juggler who stands on a rolling drum and tosses Indian clubs while first a dog and then a girl stands on his head; the pagentry of the "Maharaja of Anacora," with his warriors, harms and camel legions—these are all parts of the circus the audience takes home to recall long after the big top has moved on.

Audiences have not been large for the circus folk this year in Canada. They are "spotty," one official reported. The Wednesday afternoon performance here played to a half-empty house but a near capacity crowd was on hand Wednesday night.

If the "live" circus is suffering, the Clyde Beatty show is expanding in other fields. Beatty says he is soon going on TV regularly and will take off for India later to make a wild life movie. His radio program can be heard locally thrice weekly. His last film, "The Ring of Fear," in cinemascope, is slated for early viewing here.

TRAMPOLINE TOPS

There is a tramp trampoline act that stands out and a high trapeze. The Great Rafael, who works standing on his head without benefit of nets. Other aerial gymnastics are performed by The Kentons while The Escalantes work out on horizontal bars.

One of the finest balancing acts involves a pair of young women who spin and twist atop tall poles held vertical by male partners and another aerial ballet, entitled Indian Love Call, features 12 pretty girls aloft at once.

Robert Atterbury and Senor Pablo walk tight wires and six girls who light up like fireflies, appropriately present a teeth-

Fight Over Demands for Staff Firings Looms As McCarthy Calls First Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) called his Senate investigations sub-committee to a meeting today which could boil up a fight over demands for staff firings.

He is seeking permission at the closed session to launch at once a new public investigation of what he calls infiltration of defense plants by 133 subversives. But a majority of the sub-committee's seven members have declared that a

"House-cleaning" of the staff committee member, Senator Charles Potter (Rep., Mich.), should take precedence. This is the group's first meeting under McCarthy's chairmanship since its 36-day hearings into his row with top army officials, on which the sub-committee has not yet handed down a verdict.

At the windup of the hearings four weeks ago today one sub-

A Day Off—But No Rest at All For Popular Flo Chadwick

By DENNY BOYD

Flo Chadwick didn't get swimming today.

Her coach, Archie McKinnon, a stickler for conditioning, gave her the day off. "She really needs a rest from her swimming and social obligations," McKinnon said.

Her social calendar for Wednesday and today, would appear to belie McKinnon's words.

Wednesday morning, Miss Chadwick was up early, after swimming four hours Tuesday. After breakfast, she motored to town where she discussed contract business with officials of the British America Paint Company and the Victoria Daily Times, co-sponsors of the swim.

Following this, she hurried to radio station CKDA for an hour of recorded interviews with sportscaster Keith McKenzie.

State, Civic Leaders Attend Senator's Funeral

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — William Asbury Buchanan was laid to rest Wednesday in the hills of his adopted Prairie country side.

The Ontario-born senator and publisher was buried in the family plot in Mountainview cemetery, on the brow of a hill just south of Lethbridge. The burial followed funeral services in Southminster United Church, where Senator Buchanan went to Sunday worship. Rev. Nelson R. Mercer officiated.

Fellow publishers, representatives of city and state, and friends thronged the church in a last tribute to the senator, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, who died at his home Sunday after a long illness. He was 78.

radio editor of "The Flo Chadwick Story."

She then returned to her Cadboro Bay cottage for lunch, a short nap and then swam for 1½ hours. But even while in the water, she made a social appearance.

During the course of her practice swim, accompanied by McKinnon and assistant coach Jack Todd, who were in the coaching boat, Miss Chadwick swam close to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Husband. The Church W.A. garden party was being held there and Miss Chadwick waved to the assembled guests and shouted a cheerful greeting to them.

AT LAUNCHING

After her swim, she had dinner and attended the launching of a barge, built for the Island Tug & Barge Co. by the Victoria Machinery Depot. She chatted with Island Tug & Barge Co. president Harold Elworthy, who will be supplying his tug, Island Champion, as the chief tender during Miss Chadwick's Strait of Juan de Fuca swim.

Miss Chadwick was too tired to attend the Clyde Beatty Circus she had hoped to see and so went home to bed.

This morning she was out at

Elk Lake, meeting youngsters enrolled in swimming classes.

Tonight she will attend dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning and then go to Royal Athletic Park, where she will take part in "British Empire Games Night."

Manning and Stuart Keate, co-chairmen of her swim, will interview her for the benefit of the crowd.

Banana Boat Saves 5 From Sinking Raft

Picked Up 2,300 Miles From Goal

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)

A banana freighter found the missing raft Lehi today and rescued its five crewmen who had hoped to drift across the tossing seas from the Golden Gate to Hawaii.

The raft, which sent an SOS Wednesday night that it was in danger of sinking, had been sought for three days.

The freighter Metapan radioed that the five adventurers were taken aboard at about 4 a.m. despite choppy seas and were being brought to San Francisco.

There was no immediate word of the crewmen's condition.

The Coast Guard sent cutters racing to the scene. It reported the raft is now floating free.

The Coast Guard will destroy it as a menace to navigation. The Lehi's unhappy attempt to drift to Hawaii thus ended 2,300 miles from its goal. The five crewmen, headed by De Vere Baker, 38-year-old Mormon elder, had hoped to exist on fish from the sea and water derived from a portable still and occasional rain squalls.

GI-RUSSIAN PAIR UP

Side-by-Side Work On Floods Praised

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna newspapers today praised an Associated Press photo showing Russian and American soldiers working shoulder-to-shoulder against the Danube floods. Editorials said this shot of the first real co-operation between the rival troops since 1945 would "go around the world."

Photographer Harry Wechsler snapped the picture of U.S. army sergeant E. W. Morris and an unidentified Soviet infantryman unloading rocks Tuesday from a Soviet truck at Langenlebern, Austria. The Russian and U.S. soldiers had both responded to calls for help, without realizing they would meet each other, when flood waters menaced Langenlebern and the nearby U.S. air force base at Tulln, 22 miles north-east of Vienna.

Every Vienna newspaper used the picture Wednesday, including the Communist press. In West Germany, many newspapers front-paged the picture. The Hessische Nachrichten captioned the picture: "Why isn't it always like that? Couldn't it be like that in world politics also?"

No Fireproof Houses

THE NEXT ORDER OF BUSINESS on the agenda of the free world is the organization of a regional defense system in the Pacific. The line of Indo-China has been lost, for all practical purposes of strategy. Another and tenable line must be drawn and secured in such fashion that aggressors will not dare to cross it, at the risk of general war.

This project will be infinitely difficult—much more difficult than the organization of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In the Atlantic the founders of NATO were united by history. In the Pacific there is no such agreement between the Western nations and the Asiatics. Yet there can be no sound and perhaps no viable defence system unless it attracts the support, or at least the approval of the Asiatics—as France found in the disastrous experience of Indo-China.

These problems will not be solved without time, patience and goodwill. Meanwhile what of Canada's policy towards Pacific defense?

That question has been little debated among a Canadian public busy with many other things but it is a vital question and cannot be evaded in the end. For Canada is a Pacific as well as an Atlantic nation, and though we have been mainly concerned throughout our history with events on the Atlantic, including two world wars, our western coast fronts on Asia, where most of the world's people live, where the world revolution is in full and dangerous tide.

On May 28 last Mr. Pearson tentatively and gingerly outlined our Pacific policy to Parliament. Speaking of the proposed Pacific defense system, he said: "This Government is not ready to take any such far-reaching additional specific commitments in respect of collective security at this time... Canada cannot be expected to accept special or regional defense commitments in every part of the world where collective arrangements may be advisable." He assured the United States that Canada approves a Pacific pact but its limited military resources are so fully committed to NATO that they cannot be spread further into Asia.

Mr. Pearson's speech has been vigorously attacked in The Winnipeg Free Press, by Professor Douglas G.

Anglin, a distinguished Canadian historian, who says it is hardly better than the futile policy of no-commitments followed by Mr. Mackenzie King before World War II. It smacks, he says, of Senator Dandurand's famous remark to the League of Nations, in 1924, that Canada lives in a "fireproof house" and can afford low insurance premiums while other nations provide the world's fire brigades.

Canada's interest, Professor Anglin argues, is peace and peace, by Mr. Pearson's own statement, is indivisible. Therefore, we are as much concerned with the danger of war in Southeast Asia as in Europe or anywhere else, since war has a habit of spreading. In Professor Anglin's opinion, Canada is contracting out of the Pacific defense system not because it lacks the necessary resources but because it fails to see its dangers in Asia.

If this were the true meaning of Mr. Pearson's speech the Government's policy would merit the strongest attack. For even if Canada could not supply any great force in the Pacific theatre it could prove its support by a token force. Even in NATO each member is free to decide how much it shall contribute in men and money.

But Mr. Pearson's statement must be read in the light of contemporary events. It was made at a moment when the United States was pressing for "united action" in Indo-China before the Geneva conference had explored the possibility of peace there. It was obviously intended to support the British Government in urging patience at Washington, to restrain extreme American opinion and to show the unity of the Commonwealth.

If, as The Free Press observes, Mr. Pearson meant something else, if he was reviving the old discredited policy of no-commitments and assuming that peace is divisible, then he will and should be strongly repulsed.

In the light of his record, that assumption appears unthinkable. One way or another Canada will have to support the Pacific pact, if it is established, by more than kindly platitudes. We cannot contract out of the Pacific. Our house is no more fireproof there than in the Atlantic.

Mr. Gunderson's Latest Mission

THE BENNETT GOVERNMENT's decision to send Mr. Gunderson to Europe as an official salesman of British Columbia goods there is interesting on several counts.

How this private gentleman can improve on the work of Canada's numerous and experienced trade commissioners overseas is not clear—nor why the Government continues to rely more on him, apparently, than on most of its ministers.

However, if Mr. Gunderson is being built up as a public figure against the day when he will re-enter the cabinet, at least his present mission shows the Government's interest in export trade and indicates a departure from the national policies of the Social Credit Party.

Anyone who has read the Party's literature, especially the speeches of its leader, Mr. Solon Low, realizes that it is the most protectionist movement in the history of Canadian politics. According to Mr. Low, it stands for a maximum of self-containment in our economy, a minimum of foreign trade. Mr. Low is prepared to use drastic tariffs to keep out foreign goods, to juggle taxes in favor of local producers and to subsidize them out of the national treasury. All the direct costs to the taxpayers, in taxes, and to the consumer, in prices, would be paid for, of course, by the monetary magic of Social Credit—that is to say, by inflation of the currency.

As a lifelong Conservative until he boarded the Social Credit bandwagon, Mr. Bennett no doubt supported the protectionist policies of his Party. But it would appear that he is not prepared to accept entirely the still more protectionist policies of Social Credit. On coming to office he found himself facing not some textbook theory but the practical facts of British Columbia's livelihood, earned mainly from foreign trade. Quite properly, he is trying to expand that trade. He sent Mr. Gunderson to Japan in search of new markets for our goods. He sends him to Europe for the same purpose.

If this is a constructive approach, Mr. Bennett should remember that the national policies of Social Credit would reduce all such trade to a trickle. As a former Liberal, Mr. Gunderson presumably understands that fact, and the need of abundant exports and the imports that make them possible.

But how these gentlemen can support the tariff views of Mr. Low in federal politics—apart from his financial theories—is hard to understand.

The Die-Hards Emerge Again

THE DIE-HARD ISOLATIONISTS of the United States are again emerging from their storm-cellars to form their own political party, which is to be called "For America." Its objective, it says, is "patriotic nationalism." Its sworn enemy is "super-internationalism, interventionism, one worldism and communism."

In plain English, it asks the United States to return to the policies of the late President Warren Harding which, perhaps more than any other factor, plunged civilization into the Second World War.

As was to be expected, the most prominent personage in this attempt to repeal history and turn back the clock is no other than Colonel Robert McCormick, publisher of The Chicago Tribune. The views of this gentleman are well known and have lately been expanded to include a full endorsement of Senator McCarthy. He says that "every patriot in Illinois will vote for Senator Joseph McCarthy."

The Senator is gratified by this approval and says that the "For America" Party seems "to be made up of a good bunch of Americans..."

I think it would be very healthy, sometime, to get a realignment of parties so there would be no extreme Right or Left wing in either the Republican or the Democratic Party. So Colonel McCormick's party apparently has a ready-made and natural leader.

The Colonel, always an impatient man, proposes that the party nominate a Presidential candidate and a full slate of Congressional candidates in 1956. His colleagues would not go so fast. Next autumn, anyway, they hope to have a campaign fund of $5,000,000 and with it will support Republicans or Democrats who, rising above the sins of their associates, will support good old isolationist principles and drag the nation back to Harding's "normalcy."

Third parties seldom prosper in the United States. The last attempt, Mr. Henry Wallace's ill-fated adventure of the 1948 election, ended when the polls closed. "For America" is unlikely to get much farther. In any case, Colonel McCormick's kiss of death has usually been fatal to any political movement. In their contest with history men of his sort invariably lose.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Old Man

A FRIEND of mine who listened to Sir Winston Churchill's recent press conference at Ottawa, on the radio, tells me he was disappointed and saddened.

Hutchison

The old man, he said, was showing his age, in hesitation, mumbling and confusion. Since this may be a widespread view among radio listeners, it is worth considering.

As is the fashion, nowadays, Sir Winston is more likely to be judged by his manner than by his contents. The contents get lost.

ONLY the written word can convey the true contents. Thus considered at leisure, read and re-read, Sir Winston's recent performance at Ottawa was one of the most important, brilliant and useful of his career. He may be old in body but there is nothing wrong with his mind. It remains the largest political instrument of this century, and few previous centuries can present its equal.

For what was Sir Winston doing in Ottawa? Was he merely being genial with the colleagues of his old profession, the press? Was he making only a friendly gesture to Canada, the nation which he once called the "linchpin of peace" and world progress? Assuredly not.

HE had come to Washington and then to Ottawa to do one of the largest jobs in his long life and he did it superbly. And the very hesitations, the colloquial phrases, the pose of the old man groping for words was undoubtedly a deliberate part of that job.

This will be understood only if you look back over the incredible story of the last three months. It began last spring with the French crack-up in Indo-China.

The reaction of the American Government to this disaster was total confusion and a sudden temptation to plunge into an incalculable war. Some of Mr. Eisenhower's official family talked wildly of intervention (without the forces to supply it). The President himself, in an obvious state of bewilderment, described Indo-China as the cork in the bottle of world communism, as a falling domino which might knock down all the others throughout the world.

BUT the President, in secret agony which only the historians of the future will piece together in retrospect, thought himself out of this dilemma, partly the result of his own indiscretion. In the end he made the greatest decision of his life—not to fight in Indo-China. It was impossible, however, for him to announce that decision when it was made. He had partly inherited and partly created a political situation in which such an announcement would have shattered his Government and Party.

There was one man, however, and perhaps only one man in the entire free world, who could announce, defend and justify the decision. That task brought Sir Winston to Washington and Ottawa. Under all the bumbling words of his Ottawa press conference, which the public probably failed to understand on the radio, the Churchill genius was at work. He was telling us, in fact, that the free world had chosen the alternative of co-existence with Russia instead of the alternative of hydrogen war and "victory on a heap of ruins."

OBSERVE, for example, the deliberately clumsy but vital paragraph of his Ottawa press conference, whose meaning can only be detected between the lines of printed words: "We pursue a two-fold policy—peace through strength. It was very well put in The Times news paper (which I don't always agree with) some time ago when they said 'armed parley, armed in order to parley.' That is all part of the idea. People say to me, aren't you asking to have it both ways? If you are trying to build up fighting strength and organization, unity of the great, vast confederacy of which we are a part; isn't it impossible to hold out a friendly hand to Russia? Isn't it trying to have it both ways? Well, I am trying to have it both ways. I think when two things hang together, as they do, there's no harm in trying to have things both ways. In fact, you won't get them any other way than having them together."

THIS may seem a ponderous, roundabout way of putting great affairs to the public but it is obviously calculated.

A British Prime Minister cannot come to America and admit that he is defending the decisions of his friend, the President. He can never appear to be interfering in American business. He must not irritate unnecessarily the President's enemies within his own household.

But, as a tried friend of the American people, as an unequalled master of the English language in all its subtle shades and intonations, Sir Winston can outline, in a kind of jolly, avuncular fashion, a life-and-death decision which the President has quietly made for himself.

Sir Winston has done that in Washington, Ottawa and London and his meaning is clear, except perhaps to the radio and TV audience. The decision is to attempt co-existence but to back it with new strength in the free world.

AS usual, Sir Winston has had his way but is too wise to say so at this critical point. Anyone who imagines, because he is old and tired and fumbles for words now and then—that he has lost his magic simply does not understand him or the inner meaning of the English language. In his own way he has announced, as only he can announce, the inner meaning of events which, mishandled, could have plunged us into war before now.

HAIRPIN FOR SAFETY

Considering the frequent level-crossing accidents could not many, if not most, of them be prevented by laying the road in a "hairpin" turn across the railroad? It certainly would make drivers slow down and practically force them to look and listen.

"L."

WHERE TO PUT IT

The city aldermen appointed to find a spot for the statue of the late Queen Victoria, should have no difficulty whatsoever.

Since Mr. Haddock, Woodward's Department Store manager, has charge of it, and W. C. Woodward, former lieutenant-governor is footing the bill, the ideal place would be on the property on which Woodward's are building their new store, if anywhere. We have already a statue on our own Parliament Building grounds, therefore it would be stupid to put it on the Empress Hotel grounds. I am not interested in statues, but I do think since Woodward's are so interested, the ideal place is their own property.

It may bring them trade.

MRS. ADELAIDE MARSHALL.

CHARTER FOR ANIMALS

An International Charter for Animals will be presented to the United Nations Assembly on behalf of animal welfare organizations in many lands, including

Canada, Britain and the United States. It is based on two principles:

1. The recognition of the actual kinship of man with the lower races implies the extension of the sphere of moral duties consequent on this sense of relationship.
2. It is, therefore, iniquitous to inflict suffering, directly or indirectly, on any sentient being, except when self-defence or absolute necessity can justify being pleaded.

One clause of the charter calls for the outlawing of the use of animals upon the stage, screen (except for educational purposes), the object of which is to benefit the animals themselves and in circus.

Why have hundreds of thousands of persons of many classes, races and creeds condemned this form of animal exploitation? The reason is "that after hearing reports from around the world of the terror, pain and deaths inevitable in the performing animal trade, they have decided that such suffering solely in the interest of spectator amusement and financial profit is unjustified."

Some training for animals which may be held in captivity, such as in the better type of zoological gardens—is beneficial; but, as Dr. H. Hediger, an expert on the subject, points out: "We must differentiate sharply between a good biological training and a bad old-fashioned training for the purpose of 'money-earning.'"

Oppenheimer—Uneasy Story

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP from Washington

TO the Soviet enemy, the transcript in the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer has revealed many secret matters. To the American scientific community, this same transcript has made an even more dangerous revelation.

In brief, it has shown that Dr. Oppenheimer really got into trouble, not because of his alleged defects of character, but because he gave his government honest, informed, usually sensible but unwelcome advice.

The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Admiral Lewis Strauss, has gone to great lengths to give a different impression. "Defects of character" were the theme of his bitter opinion against Oppenheimer. And to a disturbed and protesting scientist of Los Alamos laboratory, the stronghold of our weaponry, Strauss wrote:

"The Atomic Energy Commission does not believe that any government servant—scientist, engineer or administrator—should slant his advice or temper his professional opinion because of apprehension that such advice or opinion might be unpopular now or in the future."

ASSURANCE AND RECORD

Naturally, however, the scientists are testing these assurances. By Admiral Strauss, against the record compiled by his own subordinates. That record begins, of course, with the Commission charge against Dr. Oppenheimer, with its ugly hints about the H-bomb controversy. And that record continues through the massive transcript, with attack after attack on Dr. Oppenheimer's advice to his government. Dr. Oppenheimer's stand on the H-bomb, in which he was of course joined by a majority of other American scientific leaders, is only a small part of the story.

For example, Maj.-Gen. Charles Roscoe Wilson testifies that one of the reasons why he "felt impelled to go to the Director of Intelligence to express my concern" was because of "my awareness that Dr. Oppenheimer was interested in what I call the internationalizing of atomic energy, this at a time when the United States had a monopoly." It did not matter, naturally, that this interest of Dr. Oppenheimer's was shared by B. M. Baruch. It was an interest that did not suit people like Gen. Wilson.

NO BOUQUETS

Again, there is the matter of the long-range detection system. Among the secrets the transcript discloses is the fact that a long-range detection device for nuclear explosions had already been developed in wartime by Dr. Oppenheimer's Los Alamos team. But no bouquets are handed to Dr. Oppenheimer for this quite remarkable achievement.

On the contrary, he is hectored at great length because he had advised his government that the air sample method of long-range detection was more important than seismographic or barometric methods. This, too, had upset the air staff, which took a different view. And of course it did not matter that in this instance, Dr. Oppenheimer's advice was wholly correct.

Then there is the Vista story. Here, Dr. Oppenheimer's sin was to suggest a change in the then-existing arrangement, which made the whole existing atomic stockpile the monopoly asset of the Strategic Air Command. He wanted the stockpile divided, instead, into three parts—one part for SAC, one part for Tactical Air and other use on the battlefield, and one part as reserve.

TRODDEN TOES

To be sure, Dr. Oppenheimer knew what the generals seemed not to have known, that the grim era of atomic plenty would soon permit such a division of the stockpile. To be sure, the thinking developed by Dr. Oppenheimer and others in the Vista report is now, generally speaking, the official thinking of the Pentagon. But the generals' toes were trodden on by Dr. Oppenheimer's premature correctness, and suspicions were aroused.

Finally, there is the shocking Lincoln story. Here the transcript shows the Air Force venomously opposing all efforts to organize a serious air defense of the United States—"sabotaging" is the ugly word used by the distinguished Dr. Gregory Zacharias. And here the transcript shows, too, that in this present year of doubtful grace, Dr. Oppenheimer was solemnly charged with probable disloyalty because he wanted his country to be defended against Soviet atomic power.

NOT POPULAR

Indeed, with the sole exception of the H-bomb debate, time has proven that all Dr. Oppenheimer's advice to his government was sound and good. But it was not, to borrow Admiral Strauss's word, "popular" advice. And its unpopularity quite clearly and directly generated the nasty whispering, the sinister public hints, which in turn made possible Admiral Strauss' ultimate attack on Dr. Oppenheimer.

All but one or two of the basic facts showing supposed defects in Dr. Oppenheimer's character were known in wartime at Los Alamos; and were known, too, when Strauss and the other members of the AEC unanimously reaffirmed Dr. Oppenheimer's clearance in 1947. What then are the scientists to think? The stale controversies, so endlessly aired, the AEC prosecutor's constant effort to attribute evil motives to Dr. Oppenheimer's position in those controversies, have inevitably made the scientists think that the Strauss letter to Los Alamos is "less than candid."

New York Times

BY JULY only the true New Yorkers are left to the town. The fair-weather friends, those who condescend to visit in the fall to see the Broadway offerings, those who think of the city in terms of a perfect May afternoon on Central Park South, they are all gone now.

Is the loyalty of the others its own reward, and is there no other? We wonder. Certainly no one really knows New York who hasn't seen and loved the bony, vital children who are forever opening fire hydrants and scattering the inevitable patrol car brings a wrench-equipped policeman, the skinny urchins who somehow have acquired a Bermuda tan on Second Avenue. Genuine New York is the stout print-dress-clothed ladies and short-sleeved-shirted gentlemen on park benches, never moving except to wipe their brows. New York, too, is the white-collar men clinging to their jackets in the fiercest heat, like badges of honor; the street vendors selling delicacies they make before your eyes by pouring multi-colored syrups over cups of chipped ice; a horde of children flocked to the playground's single drinking fountain or scampering knee-deep in the public wading pool; an occasional one of their mothers breaking the rules by removing hose and shoes and wetting her own toes; the family-filled cars all pointing away from the city on a holiday morning, all toward it in the evening; the sedentary and idly moving crowds in the parks at night, seeking a little relief in nature's air conditioning.

All these things only the true New Yorkers know.

Off to the Ranch

THEY'RE 12 years old and they've just gone off alone on their holiday, leaving their mother all tired out.

Fathers, she says bitterly, have no idea what it means to assemble two children and send them away on a trip, even if it's only two weeks at a ranch with a few days in Vancouver thrown in on the way home.

They don't need much at the ranch, the father replies, quite unperturbed. Tooth brushes, jeans and boots to ride in, he implies. Well, what about Vancouver, his wife retorts. That'll be apartment life and tidy clothes, and what does he think their clothes will be like after two weeks at the ranch?

The father sucks on his pipe and says calmly that it's just a question of sending enough clothes with them. That makes his wife madder yet. The more clothes you send, she explains in the voice of one talking to a moron, the more they leave behind. And they don't unpack their bags properly at the ranch, but simply rummage in them like a couple of playful terriers. And everything gets scrunched and dirty. Runner boots are wrapped in clean shirts, tooth brushes and damp face cloths are rolled up in pajamas, she says. As for their socks, the less said the better, and hasn't he any family pride at all?

Her husband laughs and says well, no, he hasn't, but it sure is peaceful with the little beggars gone.

This makes his wife almost misty-eyed. It isn't peaceful, she mourns, it's just plain lonely. It makes her realize what it will be like when they're all grown up and gone, and she doesn't see how she's going to bear it. She's counting the days until she gets them back. Even the constant banging of the screen door will be good to hear, she says.

"For Pete's sake," her husband mutters, giving up his attempt to read the evening paper. "There's no pleasing women. If it isn't one thing it's another. You just can't win."

Meanwhile, the causes of all this commotion are sitting happily in the train. They've seen the lush, flat richness of the Fraser Valley, watched for the first mountains narrowing in round Hope. The river's fascinated them, muddy, swirling and savage. It's all so much bigger than the island they realize, without being able to put it into words.

Ruth

They look out eagerly for the rocky island where the river rushes fiercely on either side. They're determined not to miss the place where the railroad crosses to the other bank. And Lytton they remember because it's where the bright clear Thompson gets lost and swallowed in the muddy, opaque Fraser.

And all the time their excitement is mounting. It's sage and jack pines now, and soon it will be rolling hills without a tree. The country is so different from their island home and with every mile the ranch comes nearer.

Neither of them will admit it, but each is wondering whether the ranch people will be there to meet them at the depot. And who will be driving the truck and will they get a ride that evening after supper?

And when they get to Ashcroft, the truck is there alright and several other boys besides. They all climb into the back with bags and baggage and a huge carton of groceries, and the talk is all of horses. Yep, the beloved Buck is in fine shape this year, and old Dusty's still on the ranch, and still tries to trail far behind the others on a ride.

Yep, the beaver are in the pool still, gnawed down another poplar just the night before. They've cut it into lengths already. Boy, you should see the toothmarks, and where they skidded the lengths down the bank.

And when they finally reach the ranch and rumble over the plank bridge across the irrigation ditch, the dogs come barking out, a cat with kittens heads for the barn, and everyone is talking and laughing at once. Glorious smells are coming from the kitchen, and the hired man is bringing up the milk pails.

It's noise and welcome and happiness. It's the ranch and summer vacation. It's everything they've remembered and dreamed about for the last 11 months.

They have their supper. They have their ride. They tumble exhausted into the bunks with the big red blankets.

And neither of them remembers the stamped, addressed postcards their mother slipped into the side pocket of the brown canvas bag.

Only three days later, does the elder of the two take time out to scribble in pencil, "Dear Mum and Dad. We got here okay and we're having a wonderful time."

The post card doesn't get mailed for another three days because no one from the ranch is going into town.

By the time their mother gets it, her hair has gone from sprinkled grey to almost snowy-white.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

The Bulletin Board

(Miss Kilgallen appears each Sunday night on "What's My Line?"—KINTV-TV, Tacoma, at 7:30 p.m.)

NEW YORK—Vittorio Gassman plans to marry young Italian actress Anna Maria Ferrera immediately after his divorce from Shelley Winters becomes final—despite all the "we are first friends" statements when their romance first was unveiled by the press. Tallulah Bankhead faces surgery—a sequel to the operation she underwent last year.

Josephine Baker wants to "make up" with Walter Winchell. On her recent visit here she begged booking agent Joe Glaser to act as go-between in the reconciliation—but he gave her the king size brush-off.

Betty Hutton's recently-shed husband, Charles O'Curran, is ready to try it again. The girl he has in mind is a chorine toiling in a West Coast night club. The big buzz around City Hall has it that a formal "Draft Mayor Wagner for Governor" movement will be launched August 7. The top planners in the drive have been working nights.

Jackie Gleason expects this summer's hospital stay to last 15 days. The newest fad at Fire Island is bongu drop sessions on the beach. The attire, bikinis, or less. Whitney Bolton's life of Conrad Hilton, "The Silver Spade," gets the condensation treatment in the September issue of Reader's Digest, adding $14,000 to the author's profits. And Hilton has ordered 22,000 copies of the book.

Quito, Ecuador, will bounce into the news pages shortly with an important medical announcement. . . . Come July 15, "Teahouse of the August Moon" will have played ten months without a single unsold seat at any performance. . . . Errol Flynn was reported to have settled his $800,000 tax problem for 50 cents on the dollar. That's better than some of his ex-wives have been getting!

You don't have to go to Denmark for a "Christine" operation anymore. A hospital not far from New York has performed similar surgical feats in the past months. . . . Another Cinderella story may be upcoming. Gary Crosby is really smitten with a Hollywood waitress.

At General Motors the gossip is that Defense Secretary Wilson will be back in their midst around November. . . . Restaurateur Gabrielle Davelle, of Le Vovray and other posh pubs, takes over as host at Le Beaujolais.

Rock Hudson's new darling is Jill Cliforde, a wealthy English girl. . . . The Billy (N.Y. Giants) Gardeners are knitting tiny garments for a Christmas-time arrival. . . . Even the animals are jumping these days. The State of Idaho is parachuting beavers into remote mountain areas.

Peggy Ann Garner's most successful suitor is a millionaire Brazilian plantation owner. He just presented her with a set of jewelry that looks like something out of the Tower of London. . . . Producer Herman Levin is dating pretty British actress Joan Egan (of the "Pleasure Island" flicker cast).

The Ink Spots will record a Japanese number they picked up in Tokyo. It's titled "Planting Rice," and they'll do the chorus in the original language. . . . The newest showgirl slimmer is a seven-day melon diet—nothing but cantaloupe and honeydew for a week.

SYNOPSIS—A weak ridge of high pressure still covers most of B.C. However, moist air moved into the southern part of the province Wednesday night.

As a result, increased cloudiness but no precipitation is forecast for the south coast. In the eastern interior thunderstorms are again expected tonight.

Toronto Organizes 25-Piece Orchestra For Fall Debut

TORONTO (BUP)—A 25-man chamber orchestra designed to fill a gap in the nation's musical life is being organized here and will make its debut this fall.

Boyd Neel, dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music, said the group would be known as the Hart House Orchestra, perpetuating the name of the Hart House Quartette, established more than 35 years ago by the Massey family.

"Canada needs an orchestra of these dimensions," Neel said. "It will be a group of about 25 players, performing musical literature not commonly done or out of the scope of the large symphony orchestras. We thereby hope to fill a gap in Canadian, and even American, musical life."

Weather in northern B.C. will be much the same today as Wednesday but a weak disturbance off-shore will bring increasing cloudiness to the north coast Friday.

Temperatures today and Friday will be just a little cooler than the last few days.

Colored Road Route Signs To Be Tried in Washington

MARRIED: A. R. Mosher, 73-year-old president of the 375,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor, returned to his Ottawa office today to announce he had been on a honeymoon. A widower of six years, he married Pearl Hull, 42, an assistant housekeeper at the Chateau Laurier Hotel, nine days ago. Mrs. Mosher is a former union shop steward at the Chateau, a Canadian National Railway hotel.

OLYMPIA (AP) — Colored highway route markers will be installed in three Washington cities soon to guide motorists through congested metropolitan areas.

An announcement from the state highways department, one of the first in the nation to try out the new system, said the colored markers will help prevent motorists from getting turned around in strange cities.

Motorists headed north will follow orange-highway signs. Those going south will follow green signs. Eastbound routes will be marked with brown signs; westbound with blue.

The markers will be tried on an experimental basis in Seattle, Spokane and Olympia.

AT ATTENTION FOR AN HOUR

FORT DIX, N.J. (UP) — The commanding officer of an infantry company and his administrative first sergeant faced a court martial today for making 225 trainees stand at attention for almost an hour in 90-degree heat.

Finance Experts Open Convertibility Talks

Full-Dress Currency Discussions Start In London Between U.S., European Lands

By ADRIAN BALL

LONDON (Reuters)—The first "full-dress" discussion of currency convertibility problems between ministers and financial experts of the United States and the main European countries opened here today.

Delegates from 14 countries began a two-day conference arranged by the Organization for European Economic Co-operation.

Their task is to consider what might happen if any European countries decide to make their currencies convertible—that is, able to be exchanged freely for any other currency instead of strictly controlled by government regulations.

The Canadian delegation is led by Dana Wilgress, Canada's permanent representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris.

Other members of the Canadian delegation are F. G. Hooton, from Wilgress' staff in Paris, and J. F. Grandy, second secretary at Canada House, London.

Finance ministers and economic experts are giving their views on the impact that wider currency convertibility would have on European and world trade and financial relations.

The meeting is in secret, under the chairmanship of Richard A. Butler, Britain's treasury chief.

The conference is not empowered to make decisions. Its duty is to discuss convertibility and to report back to the OECD by Nov. 1.

COLIN CAMERON, MP
Nanaimo CCFer To Talk Here on World Affairs

International affairs will be the topic of an address by Colin Cameron, CCF MP for Nanaimo, at the CCF Hall, Douglas Street, at 8 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Cameron will also report on the last session of the House of Commons.

Soon after his Victoria visit, Mr. Cameron will make a trip to Germany, pausing to visit a married daughter in England.

Mr. Cameron was a member of the B.C. Legislature from 1937 to 1945 and served two terms as president of the B.C. section of the CCF. He was defeated here in 1952 in a provincial election, then went on to win the Nanaimo federal seat last year.

Pioneer City Teacher Dies; Rites Friday

Miss Marguerite J. Ozard, who taught school in Saanich for more than 20 years, died Tuesday after a lengthy illness. She was 77.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 at Sands funeral home with Rev. Canon Fred Pike officiating.

Born in Chatham, Ont., she moved to Winnipeg in 1892 and came west with her parents and brothers in 1908, settling at Gordon Head.

She taught first at Tolmie School and subsequently served as principal at Strawberry Vale, Gordon Head and Craigflower. She retired in 1932 due to failing eyesight.

She is survived by four nephews, W. C. and J. H. Ozard, in Victoria, and E. G. and W. H. Ozard in Vancouver; also a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rhoda Ozard, who lives here.

VP OF UNESCO—Dr. W. F. Swift of Calgary; vice-president of the Canadian Education Association and deputy-minister of education for Alberta, has been elected at Geneva as one of four vice-presidents of the United Nations' educational, scientific and cultural organization. (CP Photo).

B.C.'s Oldest Native Daughter Mrs. Annie Horth, 95, Dead

Funeral services were scheduled today for the woman who for many years has been known as British Columbia's oldest native daughter — Mrs. Annie Horth, 95.

She was born in Victoria, May 27, 1859, nine years after her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wain, disembarked from the Norman Morrison which arrived here from England after voyaging around the Horn.

She died Tuesday.

Mrs. Horth's parents were pioneers both of Saanich and Nanaimo. Her father farmed here, then was one of the builders of the Bastion in the coal city where he also operated the first brewery. Later Mr. Wain ran a livery stable which carried the first mail to Wellington.

The deceased was a former member of the Daughters of St. George.

Widow of the late Charles William Horth, she is survived by two sons, John W. Horth of Seattle, and Charles Henry Horth of East Wellington. There

Tribe Turns Tables

Overcome 5-Goal Lead To Defeat Shamrocks

PNE Indians 7
Shamrocks 6

By RON COULTER

Half a Shamrock team may be twice as good as a whole Indian tribe, but half an Indian tribe plus one big chief can sure upset the dope sheet.

Such is the respective story of two particular games in the intercity Lacrosse League this month.

It was but 12 days ago that five members of the Shamrocks dallied when they should have dangled on their way to Pat Bay airport and missed connections for a game against the Indians in Vancouver.

But the mere sprinkling of Shamrocks that did show up scalped the Indians, 9-4.

It was a different story Wednesday night here at Memorial Arena when Indians arrived with only a few of their braves.

The result was that Indians posted their sixth straight win as they roared from behind with a seven-goal lead half to offset a 5-0 half-time deficit and humble the rooster-tongued Rocks, 7-6.

Indians dressed only 13 players for the contest and finished with 12. Mario Cervi twisting his knee late in the second quarter.

The tribe played like nervous maidens the first half, failing to get organized and missing what scoring opportunities were presented as they ran into a red-hot Gordy Johnston in the Rocks' nets.

Rocks, meanwhile, shared none of the Indians' woe as they slipped in for five counters to take what appeared to be a commanding lead.

But Indians warmed to the task in the final half and played like the braves they claim to be as they fired seven shots past Johnston while Stan Joseph allowed the Shamrocks but one lone counter in return.

BIG CHIEF

It was big chief Jake Proctor who added spice to the victory. He scored two goals, the last coming on a solo rush with only 14 seconds remaining in the game. It was the winner.

Nip O'Hearn had given Rocks the lead at 3:25 of the second frame when he scored the game's first goal. Before the session ended Harry Irwin had scored on a neat one-handed effort and Whitey Severson, Jack Thompson and Bob Monaghan had beaten Joseph.

ON PROWL

Then Indians began to move. Gordie Nickle found the net at 35 seconds into the second half. Proctor stickhandled in for his first of two goals and Alf Brenner slipped around Jack Bionda to cut the deficit to 5-3 at three-quarter time.

Harold Fox narrowed the gap at 1:49 of the fourth quarter by a blazing shot while Archie Browning was sitting out a high sticking penalty, and evened the count at 7:27.

Jake Trotzkuk then picked up a loose ball and beat Johnston on an unassisted effort at 8:57 to score the go-ahead goal.

Bionda tied the score on an odd-man power play at 14:26 when he picked up a foiled-hounding rebound and fooled Joseph. Then Proctor cashed in on his solo effort to give the tribe victory.

Rocks meet New Westminster Royals here Friday.

TORONTO RUMORED AS NEW HOME FOR PHILS

NEW YORK (CP)—The Daily News says today the ailing Philadelphia Athletics may move to Toronto next season. News sports writer Joe Trimble writes that the plight of the American League club was one of the prime subjects of talk as major league officials gathered in Cleveland Tuesday for the all-star game.

"It seems most likely that the Philadelphia club will go to Toronto, possibly by next spring, and that the next United States city to enter the majors will be Minneapolis, rather than the towns which have been talking loudly, such as Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles and San Francisco," says Trimble.

IF IT'S FOR THE SOLARIUM

George Would Rather Count $$'s Than Fish

GEORGE DOUGLAS

... dollar hungry

The man for the 'amazing head for figures in the work of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association is George Douglas.

Tall, lean and an adding machine with legs, George is the man behind the books in all the VSIAA ventures. And with the Times-Anglers Solarium Derby rapidly approaching, the personal VSIAA secretary is sharpening up his pencils with relish as he anticipates a new record high of money for the one-day derby.

Now in his fourth year as Anglers' secretary, George says that the high point of his year is when he totals the money collected by ticket sales in the Times-Anglers' fish-fest in Saanich Inlet.

George knows well that the money collected (it was over $6,000 last year), scarcely approaches the total needed by the Queen Alexandra Solarium, to which every cent of the derby money is donated.

His year-round job of book-keeping leaves the RCAF veteran little time to fish himself, but there are anglers in town who can remember the last time George tied into a fish. They just can't remember what year George tends to minimize his contribution to the Solarium. He says, "If all the kids in the world were as healthy as mine, we could all take time off to go fishing. But as long as there are kids with crooked legs, we VSIAA members know that we have a duty to them."

Derby Day is July 25. It is not too late to buy your derby ticket.

McCooley Holds Lead In Seniors' Tee Meet

A gross score of 80 put Lieut. Col. Larry McCooley in top position at the end of the first day's play in the Vancouver Island Senior Golf Association championships at Colwood golf course Wednesday.

Playing on his home course, Col. McCooley led a fellow clubman, George Sparring, and Nainimo golfer Dr. P. E. Margeson, who tied for runner-up positions with 81's.

Admitting he was "really playing great," Rosburg hit some powerful drives off the tee and was consistently in close to the pin with his irons. The longest putt that confronted him on the 18th green was a 15-footer. He missed an eagle in the 18th when his 10-footer missed by two inches.

Bill Court, Royal Colwood Golf Club professional and the only Victoria entry, shot a 42-35—77.

DUMART RELEASED

BOSTON (AP)—Woodrow Woody Dumart, 37-year-old veteran of 15 seasons with Boston Bruins, was made a free agent Wednesday at his own request by the National Hockey League club.

Thirteen Canadians, led by Lt. Col. Steven Johnson of Calgary, runner-up last year, and Capt. D. O. White of Pine Falls, Man., qualified for the second stage Friday with a score of 99 out of a possible 105.

The Canadians were among 1,200 men and women entered, most of them veterans of two world wars or members of the regular armed forces.

The first stage involved seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards and occupied the entire day's program.

The leading 300 scorers will shoot at 300, 500 and 600 yards in the second stage Friday. The surviving "Queen's Hundred" will fire the final volleys Saturday at 900 and 1,000 yards.

There was heavy rain early Wednesday. Later visibility was fairly good.

LEONARD FAR BACK

Unknown Pro Leads Open

By PETER MURRAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, the hottest thing the Canadian Open golf championship has seen in many a year, led a stunned field into the second round today two strokes ahead of the best of 12 other par-breakers.

The bespectacled, 27-year-old San Franciscan ripped the Point Grey course apart in Wednesday's opening 18-hole round with a blazing 63, eight strokes under par, to overcome a brilliant 65 fired by Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon two hours earlier.

Playing late in the field of 125, Rosburg shot 33-30 against Point Grey's 36-35 par for the nines and set up what club officials said is a course record for tournament competition.

Four strokes behind Rosburg with 67 was Bill Welch, little known pro from Kennewick, Wash., who was four under on the front nine.

CUDD WELL UP

Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., semi-finalist in the U.S. Amateur last year, was low amateur with 68. He was bracketed at that figure with Gordie Brydson of Toronto who hit the three-under figure with a birdie and an eagle on the last two holes. A 30-foot putt at the 460-yard par five 18th gave Brydson a three and his eagle.

In the 69 bracket were Eddie Hogan of Portland, Ockie Eliason of Tacoma and Al Balding of Toronto.

Thirteen players shot sub-par rounds, but some of the pre-tournament favorites found the going rough.

LEONARD DRAGS

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, winner of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association crown in Edmonton last week, was well back with a 74. His game fell apart at the ninth hole where he drove two balls into the rough and took a three-over-par seven.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., had a wobbly 39 on the first nine but made a fine recovery with a 31 coming home. Ralph Blomquist of Glendale, Calif., and Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., both of whom left the touring pro circuit to play here, found Point Grey Mayfield had a 73 and Blomquist had a 76, matching the score of veteran Lawson Little of Pebble Beach, Calif.

Admitting he was "really playing great," Rosburg hit some powerful drives off the tee and was consistently in close to the pin with his irons. The longest putt that confronted him on the 18th green was a 15-footer. He missed an eagle in the 18th when his 10-footer missed by two inches.

Lundberg's 3-Run Homer Keeps Tyees in WIL Lead

Victoria 7, Lewiston 4

By BILL WALKER

Curves often bring out the best in man, but they can be the ruin of man, too.

And different types though they may be, they both have a place in the local Western International Lacrosse baseball pictures. Tonight, for example, Florence Chadwick will be the individual guest of honor at the ball lot as the Tyees open a three-game series with Wenatchee Chiefs.

She will take part in a pre-game ceremony that will also include an exhibition game of indefinable nature between the Shamrocks of lacrosse fame and the Tyees.

Tyees officials trust that Miss Chadwick's deviating characteristics will bring out the best in the baseball public for a contest that will aid the British Empire Games Fund. In this regard a canvas of the fans will be taken by members of the YMCA track club, all proceeds to be turned over to the B.E.G. fund.

Details of the Shamrock-Tyee exhibition are still a mystery, except that the rivals will use the respective tools of their trade. Maybe? Festivities start at 7:30. The game begins at 8.

MAY THROW 'EM

It is also rumored that Miss Chadwick may decide to toss curves, the like of which pitcher John Marshall of Lewiston Broncs so successfully employed for eight innings Wednesday night until one bounced far back to haunt him.

But nobody should be ruined by Flo's curvaceous by-play as was Marshall by Don Lundberg of the Tyees Wednesday.

Marshall hung a curve ball inside on Lundberg with the score tied at 4-4 and two Tyees on base in the last of the ninth Wednesday, and it was the last curve he threw that evening.

Lundberg's blow landed in Pembroke Street and broke up an interesting and a well-played contest.

TIERNY IN FORM

In the interim between the time the Broncs picked up a two-run lead in the first inning and the Tyees, en masse, mobbed Lundberg at the plate,

BERMUDA ATHLETES MAY STAY HOME

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP)—A £700 financial barrier facing Bermuda's British Empire Games entrants must be cleared by Saturday if this vacation colony is to be represented at Vancouver, July 30-Aug. 7.

Three men and a woman have been selected to represent Bermuda at the games, but the Bermuda Olympic Association says none will go unless expense money for all four is provided by Saturday—date on which entries must be finally confirmed.

Cost of sending the team is estimated at $900. Each team member, including manager, is required to contribute $50, leaving £700 to be found in other ways.

MAJOR LEAGUE CROWDS ON UPSWING THIS YEAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Attendance at the major league ball parks has been on the upswing this season compared to the turnstile figures a year ago.

A mid-season survey by The Associated Press showed Wednesday that 11 of the 16 major league teams are ahead of their 1954 attendance pace and combined they show an increase of 834,028 paid admissions over last season. Figures include games through last Sunday.

The American League has drawn 4,368,584 fans and 4,248,197 customers have watched the National Leaguers for a grand total of 8,616,781. The same number of home dates attracted 7,782,753 last season.

Jackson Springs City Net Upset

Fifth-seeded Rex Jackson scored one of the most brilliant upsets of the current championship Wednesday night.

Playing top-flight tennis, Jackson downed second-seeded Ronnie Mitchell 6-3, 6-3. With only one service break in the first set, Jackson had to rely on his returns to break up Mitchell's powerful game.

Also entering the semi-finals tonight will be first-seeded Warren Cameron, fourth-seeded Dave Godefrey, and Peter Peacock.

Cameron eliminated Jim Wells in Wednesday's play, 6-4, 6-2.

Godefrey was forced to the limit to beat Keith Taylor 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, and Peacock downed Gordon Harley 6-2, 1-6, 6-0.

Expected to highlight this evening's play will be the semi-final battle between Jackson and Peacock.

Other results and tonight's draw follow:

Mitchell-Kinnear and Godefrey beat Mrs. Dawson and Miss Peterson, 6-4, 6-4.

Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. McCormick, 6-4, 6-4.

Semi-finals—Mrs. Lyons and Brand beat Miss Ferguson and Mitchell, 6-0, 6-3.

Miss Elmer and Mitchell beat Mrs. Wilson and Miss S. Butt, 6-0, 6-0.

Mitchell and Peacock beat Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Flight—B. Ferguson beat D. Thomson, 6-1, 6-3.

R. Lewis beat R. Clarke 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

W. Dunbar beat N. Vuk, 6-0, 6-0.

5:30 p.m.—Semi-finals men's singles: R. Jackson vs. P. Peacock. Semi-finals ladies' singles: G. Godefrey vs. Mrs. C. Kinnear. Miss S. Butt vs. Mrs. D. Knowles.

6:00 p.m.—Miller and Hartley vs. Dunbar and Parker. T. Garner vs. S. Hicks (P).

6:30 p.m.—Jackson and Mitchell vs. Godefrey and Bishop. W. Lewis vs. D. McCormick (P).

U.S. 'Seconds' Lead Net Series

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (BUP) — The United States "second string" Davis Cuppers were expected to clinch an easy victory over the British West Indies today in the first round of American zone eliminations by winning the key doubles match.

The heavily-favored Yanks jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series Wednesday when Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., scored singles victories.

Richardson defeated Geoffrey Ingfield yesterday, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0. Clark defeated Trinidad's champion and one of the world's top Negro players, 6-2, 6-0, 6-3.

SAINT CLOUD, France (BUP) — Flory Van Donck of Belgium won the 72-hole French open golf tournament championship Wednesday with a 13-under-par total of 275.

Farmers to Meet Alberni In Twin Bill Here Sunday

Senior amateur baseball returns to Royal Athletic Park Sunday with powerful Farmer Construction scheduled to meet Alberni Athletics in an afternoon exhibition double-header.

Farmers, who swept two games from Campbell River Cougars last week, will be at full strength for the games and will be out to maintain their winning ways against other Island teams.

Farmers have lost only three games this season against other Island clubs, dropping two to Parkville and one to Courtenay Legion.

In the Vancouver Island Senior Amateur Baseball League against Parkville, Farmers hold a large 6-2 margin and have at least clinched a tie for the title. They lost the singleton to Courtenay in the July 1 tourney there.

Catcher Jim Harford, who injured his knee at Courtenay, is expected to return to action this Sunday and is scheduled to catch at least one game.

Canada Opens Net Tie Against Chileans Today

TORONTO (BUP) — The top tennis players of Chile and Canada clash today in the first singles match in the three-day Davis Cup playoffs.

Tennis experts thought the winner of the Lorne Main-Luis Ayala match, the first of the two singles today, would give his country a big psychological edge for the rest of the tournament. Their names were drawn out of a cup Wednesday.

"It is unfortunate that the best match has to be played first. The country that wins that one will be a lot more confident," Ricardo Balbiers, captain of the Chilean team, said Wednesday. Balbiers will take on Bob Bedard, 23-year-old No. 2 Canadian from Sherbrooke, Que., in today's second singles match.

Watt chose Paul Wulley, 23, of Vancouver, to play with Main in Friday's doubles against Ayala and Andres Hamersley, 34-year-old veteran Chilean tournament player. The choice of Wulley over Bedard was made on the strength of his play with Main in doubles in Vancouver and in last year's Davis Cup play.

The 24-year-old Main, playing his sixth year of Davis Cup tennis, will meet Balbiers in the first of Saturday's singles. Bedard will take on Ayala in the second.

One of the most talented track fields in the history of Victoria's highland games is expected here for the 17th annual show at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

With 29 events scheduled for competitors, officials are expecting a large Mainland and U.S. entry.

Big names in local sport will head the list of Island entrants. Unsuccessful B.E.G. candidate Bob Hutchison, middle and long distance runners, Peter Watson, Bill Gelling, Don Burgess, Cliff Salmond, Harry Stephens and sprinter Jim Kennett will be among the many entrants.

Sprints, middle and long-distance runs, relays, pole-vaulting, high and broad jumps, discus, shot put, weight throws, hammer toss and the traditional caber toss will be on the field event program.

Competitors will be aiming for possession of the coveted Dr. D. J. Hunter Grand Aggregate Trophy, emblematic of Highland Games supremacy.

Field events will begin at 1:30 p.m.

A strong contingent of entries is expected from Vancouver, headed by four British Empire Games entrants.

Weight man John Pavelich of Vancouver, a B.E.G. contender, is entered for the hammer throw and caber toss.

Ian Hume and Thomas Skimming, both in Vancouver for the B.E.G., have entered the jumping events. Another Canadian B.E.G. representative, Roy Pella, is also expected to attend.

Members of the Vancouver Olympic Club entered include: Don Steen, Muri Hansen, Doug McLeod, Dave Inwood, Jim Burnett, Dick Frew, Walter Peters and George Hills. Maureen Kelly of Vancouver is entered in the sprints and jumps, and Ed McKillop will contest the field events.

AL Battle Resumes; Dodgers Win

The hapless, hitless and practically helpless Baltimore Orioles invade the Yankee Stadium and the Philadelphia A's, equally futile, entertain the Cleveland Indians in what you might call the openers of the "new" American League pennant race.

Fred Casey Stengel's Yankees, who spent the first half of the season flopping and floundering, have a nine-game winning streak going and enter the game just a half-game behind the Indians, whose latest work included dropping four games to the Chicago White Sox.

In the National League, the New York Giants start a western trip with a five-game bulge over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who whipped the Milwaukee Braves 2-1 in 12 innings Wednesday night in the only major league game played.

The Brook victory over the Braves came the hard way before a crowd of 35,470 which boosted the Milwaukee attendance over the million mark. Duke Snider batted in the runs in the first and final innings on sacrifice flies. Jim Hughes, who took over for Russ Meyer in the ninth, was the winner.

NEW RECORD? VIENNA (AP) — A Hungarian army team Wednesday claimed a world's record for the 6,000-metre relay.

Radio Budapest said the team ran the distance in 15 minutes 21.5 seconds.

The listed world mark is 15:30.2 set by Sweden in 1949.

Ladder Derby Standings

A total of 32 anglers have now gained rungs on the seventh weekly ladder of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

Thirteen fish were weighed in Wednesday, and with four days' fishing still remaining on this week's ladder it appears that several anglers will lose their rungs when final tabulations are made.

Fishing on the seventh ladder concludes Sunday at midnight, and the eighth of the 10 weekly ladders opens Monday.

Largest catch reported Wednesday was a 13-pounder boated by Mrs. Cliff Heglin. However, Mrs. Heglin qualified on an earlier ladder and is not eligible to hold a rung this week.

John-Lien, Sr. took a nine-pound, 14-ounce salmon off Brentwood for sixth place. Unofficial rung holders follow:

Nova Scotia Names Willingdon Cup Team

HALIFAX (BUP) — Four members of the Brightwood Golf Club here will make up Nova Scotia's Willingdon Cup team for next month's national interprovincial team championships at London, Ont.

Lorne Smith, newly-crowned Nova Scotia amateur champion, R. J. Foley, C. G. O'Hearn and A. W. Carter were named Wednesday. Doug Harrison of Amherst was named as alternate player and Roy Duchemin of Sydney as non-playing captain.

Cooper Sets Record, But Newton Gets Cash

Mike Newton was the big winner and Dave Cooper the record-setter Wednesday night at a stock car auto racing meet at Western Speedway.

Newton took major honors as he roared to victory in the trophy dash, first heat and Main events before some 600 fans at the one-half mile dirt oval.

Cooper came in for a small share of glory as he sped to a first-place finish in the second heat and posted a new track one-lap record of 23.60 seconds during time trials. Newton had earlier lowered the standard to 24.20.

Cooper was bumped out of the trophy dash by Newton while dueling for first-place and also spun out on the 18th lap of the Main, Newton breezing on to win.

There were several spinouts and minor scrapes, with Dick Willoughby providing most of the extra thrills when he tangled with Mel Price on the backstretch and crashed into a light pole.

Dunk Cuthbert was the victim of two minor accidents, while Dave Francis lost a wheel in the Main.

A big race car program has been scheduled for Saturday night with American drivers and cars expected to show.

Complete results follow:

Main event—1, Mike Newton; 2, Bill Foster; 3, Dick Varley.

Trophy dash—1, Mike Newton; 2, Dick Willoughby; 3, Dick Varley.

First heat—1, Mike Newton; 2, Gordy Barr; 3, Dick Willoughby.

Second heat—1, Dave Cooper; 2, Dave Francis; 3, Bob Mawle.

Third heat—1, Dick Varley; 2, Bill Foster; 3, Mel Price.

Fourth heat—1, Terry Cotnam; 2, Bert Gilmore; 3, Ed Isaacson.

Nanaimo Bakers Fail To Meet City Demand

Vancouver Restaurants Stop Bread Imports, Workers Barred From Insurance Benefits

NANAIMO—Local bread production here of 4,000 loaves per day is falling far behind demand, in spite of the efforts of independent bakers to make up for the shortage caused by the current bakery strike-lockout.

BCPC IN SUIT FOR FLOODING

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Power Commission has been cited defendant in a Supreme Court action by George and Isabel Newberry of Campbell River.

The Newberry claim, un-stated damages for flooding of their lands alleged to have been caused by the commission's works on Campbell River.

Nanaimo Men Will Journey To Arctic

(Special to THE TIMES)

NANAIMO—Three men will be among a group of Canadian scientists who will travel to the Arctic aboard the USN ice breaker Burton Island, leaving Victoria Saturday.

They are Dr. Ferris Neave, Pacific Biological Station, and R. H. Herlinneau and J. A. Stiekland of the Pacific Oceanographic group.

The scientists will be headed by Dr. William Cameron, of the Defense Research Board, Ottawa.

Accompanying Burton Island will be the U.S. coast guard cutter Northwind. The ships will penetrate the Northwest Passage to Banks Island and McClure Strait, approximately 1,500 miles north of Edmonton.

Polls Open Today For Strike Vote Among Fishermen

Salmon tendermen members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and the Native Brotherhood of B.C. will cast ballots in a government-supervised strike vote from today to Thursday, July 22.

During the eight-day voting period, the Department of Labor will have polling stations at 18 ports and fishing stations along the coast.

Vancouver Island polling stations are as follows: Victoria, Tofino, Quathilasi Cove and Alert Bay.

Polling times during each of the eight days at these points will be set by the government, polling clerk in accordance with local requirements.

The government strike vote will climax five months of negotiations, which include the appointment of a conciliation board.

The union seeks a wage increase of $30 per month, seniority system to be established in the agreement, four per cent vacation pay for all tendermen regardless of length of service, elimination of $3 per month laundry charge, employer contribution of $4 per month per tenderman into a welfare plan covering life insurance, weekly sickness and accident benefits.

Miss A. Collison Dies at Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH—Miss Alice M. Collison, 73, daughter of pioneer missionaries and a life-long church worker, died here after several years' residence.

She was born in 1881 at Metlakatla, north of Prince Rupert, where her parents, Archdeacon and Mrs. W. H. Collison, served as missionaries to Metlakatla, Massett, and Kincolith.

Miss Collison was educated in England, and for several years assisted her late brother, Archdeacon H. A. Collison in his Cedar Hill parish.

Surviving are three brothers, Arthur J., Victoria; Herbert T., Mill Bay, and J. Maxwell, Smithers.

Logger Wins $14,124 Suit In Nanaimo

Case Against Duncan Dentist

NANAIMO—Judgment of $14,124 against Dr. William A. Murchie, Duncan dentist, was handed down by Mr. Justice James M. Coady here Wednesday in Supreme Court.

It was in favor of Fred Olson, Cowichan logger, who brought suit as a result of a hunting trip in the fall of 1953, when a portion of bird shot struck his eye. He lost sight of the eye, and it may have to be removed.

According to evidence, Dr. Murchie fired the shot while he and Olson were hunting in the Cowichan area.

Said Mr. Justice Coady: "There is a distinct conflict of evidence as to the respective positions of the parties at the time this shot was fired by the defendant. I have no hesitation, however, in accepting the evidence of the plaintiff as to their relative positions."

He assessed special damages of $624.94, and general damages for "loss of earnings, pain and suffering experienced, and pain and disability" at $13,500.

Olson is a power saw faller by trade.

CPR Building New Wharves For Car Ferry

NANAIMO—CPR has begun construction here and in Vancouver of new shore facilities for the Princess of Vancouver, the company's new stern-loading car ferry.

Dredging in the Vancouver harbor site, west of the Immigration Building, has been completed by McKenzie Barge and Derrick Company and work is well advanced on the Nanaimo Harbor site, south of the CPR's present passenger terminal. It is expected that the new piers will be completed next spring.

The new terminal piers will accommodate the 7,000-ton diesel powered ferry now being constructed in a Glasgow shipyard. Delivery of the new vessel is expected in May of next year. She will accommodate 28 freight cars or their equivalent in automobiles and truck. Operating on a schedule of three return-trips daily between Vancouver and Nanaimo, the new vessel will be able to handle 800 passengers each trip.

Fuel storage tanks, power outlets, and new automobile and truck parking spaces will be provided both here and in Vancouver.

Never Missed Day During 33 Years In Jubilee Kitchen

Thirty-three years' employment without ever having missed a day's work was the record of Royal Jubilee Hospital chief chef, F. T. Williams, 2231 Windsor, who retired following ceremonies there Wednesday.

The 67-year-old chef was presented with a coffee table by the hospital and a wallet by the employee's association.

Mr. Williams joined Jubilee staff after returning from overseas in the First World War.

First Aid Classes Will Have Recess

LANGFORD—Children's first aid classes here will not be held during the summer, according to Mrs. J. K. Plumb, who is in charge of instruction.

Final class on Friday in St. Matthew's Hall will be followed by the showing of two films on safety. Instruction will start at 6:45 p.m., and the films at 7:15. Classes will resume in September.

PTA MAKES PROTEST; OVERLOOKED 30 YEARS

NANAIMO—South Wellington PTA, irked by the fact that in 30 years its school has not been honored by a May Queen selection committee, has made an emphatic protest to the District 68 school board.

"South Wellington has been ignored," the PTA wrote, and reminded trustees that one school had been honored by providing the May Queen two years in succession.

The board and queen committee admitted that rather than committing a deliberate slight it had overlooked the fact that South Wellington "assuredly held its quota of pulchritude."

The school will be "very much in the running" for the honor next year, the PTA was promised.

RCAF Presents Wings to 49 GOC Graduates of Mid-Island Area

NANAIMO—RCAF presented Ground Observer Corps wings to 49 graduates residing between Cassidy and Courtenay at a ceremony Thursday night in the Canadian Legion Hall here.

Awards were presented by FO Norman Dick, representing Sqdn. Ldr. C. H. C. Hoseney, officer commanding No. 10 GOC in Vancouver.

He said results had been "exceptionally gratifying" in five staged alerts, and had prompted the director to order alerts without any previous warning. Observers in future will be required to identify aircraft as jet powered or otherwise, he said.

TWO YEARS' SERVICE
Dr. F. A. Foerster, chairman at the meeting and regional director of the GOC, said that most of the graduates to receive awards were those who joined the organization on its inception almost two years ago. Chief observer awards were made to J. E. Holmes, Nanaimo; Mrs. E. Newton, Lantzville; J. F. Herd, Nanose; L. R. Hobbs, Qualicum Beach; M. N. Neighbour, Qualicum Bay; Mrs. E. Ross, Bowser; G. Chalfour, Fanny Bay; H. R. Tappin, Union Bay; Douglas Strank, Courtenay; Charles Parnham, Cumberland; Maj. F. J. Oatis, Denman Island; F. A. Biss, Nanaimo Lakes; L. A. Rush, Nanaimo River; G. J. Johnson, McKay Lake.

OBSERVERS' WINGS
Observers' wings were awarded to members in the following areas: Nanaimo, F. C. Noel, C. Nicholson, P. Creagh, R. W. Nixon, F. Mark, D. Neave, G. Cook, W. Moorehouse; Cedar District, J. G. Johnson (chief observer), W. DeBock, W. McGregor, J. Jones, J. Johnson, H. G. Moore; Lantzville, H. A. M. Dobson, Joan Burdock, A. Ferguson, Bryan Burdock; Nanaimo, J. Metcalf, E. Hobby, R. Coates, M. Drummond, B. Aitkenhead, E. Touzeau, J. plant.

Alderman Queries Sewer Plant Costs

DUNCAN—Following breakdown of the city sewage plant filter bed, Ald. George Highmoor asked for a statement of costs incurred by the filter bed since its installation two years ago.

Design of the plant must be faulty, he said. Hugh Brockington, consulting engineer on the system, is expected here later this week for discussion of the plant.

WHALE SKULL 'TOO BIG FOR POT

SIDNEY—Provincial museum has identified a huge bone dredged up from the deep by a fishboat as the skull of a blue whale.

It was caught in the nets of a boat owned by J. Egelund, and now reposes at the Mills Road home of A. E. Johnson, Museum officials identified it from a photograph.

"I like whale soup, but it is too large for my stewpot," Mr. Johnson told a recent visitor. The jaws are missing from the huge skull.

CBC's First Union Pact, Covers 1,300

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC and the Association of Radio and Television Employees of Canada have signed their first collective bargain agreement. The agreement, covering more than 1,300 office and studio production workers across Canada, will take effect Aug. 1, but will bring a 6 per cent pay increase, retroactive to Feb. 1, for all employees in the bargaining unit.

The agreement was signed by J. A. Quimet, CBC general manager, and E. F. Wilcox, executive secretary of the association, a joint statement said today.

Overtime will be paid at the basic rate for work performed beyond the number of basic hours in any work month. National service studio production personnel will receive time-and-a-half for overtime, computed on the same basis.

The CBC and the association agreed to a modified Rapid formula type of union security whereby union dues will be deducted at source from all association members, and from all new employees.

However, the agreement will bring no change in the principle of merit increases at present granted to CBC employees, the statement said.

EDC Ratification Bill
ROME, Italy (UPI)—Introduction of a bill for ratification of the European Defense Community was approved by the treasury committee Wednesday night, clearing the way for final debate on the controversial issue in parliament.

Italy and France are the only members of the proposed anti-Communist six-power European defense alliance that have not yet ratified the pact.

TESTS WILL PROVE MONTY MURDERED

Scientists Study Veins Taken From Heir's Arms

CHICAGO (UPI)—A panel of top scientists today studied veins taken from the arms of Montgomery Ward Thorne and the young heir's sweetheart said their tests "will prove Monty was murdered."

The scientists began examining Thorne's exhumed body Wednesday.

The four pathologists' decision to remove veins from Thorne's arm was described as an unusual step which may enable them to discover what drugs had been injected into Thorne's arms.

Thorne, 20-year-old heir to a $1,300,000 mail order fortune, was found dead in his studio apartment June 19. He was clad only in his shorts, the doors were locked and evidence of a narcotics session was found in the room.

REDS LOSE STRUGGLE TO CONTROL NAZARETH

NAZARETH, Israel (Reuters)—Local Communists today lost a fierce three-month struggle to dominate the Biblical city of Nazareth by capturing the post of mayor.

The 15-man municipal council, which includes six Communists, today voted down a Communist-supported Moslem candidate and elected a Greek orthodox Christian as mayor of the little town where Christ spent his youth.

Poland's Leading Composer, Panufnik, Flees to London

LONDON (UP)—Andrzej Panufnik, Communist Poland's leading conductor-composer, has chosen freedom in the west, Polish refugee sources said today.

The sources said Panufnik decided days ago while he was in Zurich, Switzerland, not to re-join the large number of Red meetings artists were Wednesday with his British-born wife.

He was reported to have been chairman of the Communist Polish National Society of Com-inject Communist propaganda posters.

4,600 FEET LONG

4-Ship Tow By City Tugs World Record

What is believed to be the longest tow in maritime history will be assembled at Balboa, at the Western end of the Panama Canal, late this month, for a 4,000-mile voyage to Victoria.

The towing vessels will be Island Tug & Barge Co.'s Sudbury and Island Sovereign, and the tow will consist of four tankers purchased by the company for conversion to self-dumping log barges.

The overall length of the tow, from the bow of the towing vessel to the stern of the last ship in line-ahead formation, will be 4,600 feet.

This is approximately the distance from the Legislative Buildings to the CPR Ticket Office on Government Street. H. B. Elworthy, president of the company, believes this to be a world's record tow.

The arrangements for the tow, as blueprinted in the Victoria office of Island Tug, make it possible for either of the two big tugboats to handle it alone if the other needs to drop back to make adjustments to the tow.

NON-STOP VOYAGE

The ships will come here direct from Balboa, without touching at any intermediate point.

One of the two tugs will put in to port for fuel or supplies as needed, but both have extremely long cruising ranges.

Plans call for departure from Balboa early in August, and arrival here 35 days later, depending on weather. The tugs expect to battle adverse winds most of the way.

Choose your brush and comb with care. The bristles of your brush should be stiff for vigorous brushing, but not so stiff as to injure the scalp. Wire brushes may tangle long hair and injure the scalp, and should not be used. Your comb should have smooth, blunt-pointed teeth set fairly well apart.

School Textbook Stresses CCF In Manitoba, Trustee Charges

WINNIPEG (CP)—School trustee G. A. Frith charges that one-sided politics is being taught Manitoba students in the Canadian history course.

He told Winnipeg school board Tuesday night that in a widely-used textbook "the only party to get anything like adequate treatment of its platform or its aims and ideals is the CCF."

The textbook, used in Grade 11 social studies course, which includes Canadian history, was written by J. G. Reeve, former principal of St. John's technical high school and now CCF candidate for school board, and R. O. MacFarlane, former deputy minister of education.

Mr. Frith said the book does not even mention the words "Conservative" and "Liberal" in the index but the manifesto of the CCF national convention at Regina in 1933 is dealt with in detail.

"There is no room in education for prejudice or personal opinion," he said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

A short while ago, our editor, Mr. Bruce Hutchison, hinted Canada might some day have a female Prime Minister.

Some of you might scoff at such an idea, but not me. I can already see the transcript of a typical session of Parliament, when not only the Prime Minister, but all the Hon. Members, are of the so-called weaker sex.

Here is Hansard previewed:

1st Hon. Member: Madame Speaker, I arise on a point of order.

Madame Speaker: Pettipoint, I hope? I'm having the most intriguing time with a little bit of pettipoint I'm working up right now.

2nd Hon. Member: Oh, but Madame Speaker, pettipoint just isn't USED any more. It's so PASSE.

3rd Hon. Member: It is NOT! I have the sweetest pettipoint occasional chair.

4th Hon. Member (aside): Huh. Occasional is right. The only time she uses it is when her old man struggles home from the pool hall and that's certainly occasional.

Madame Speaker: Please confine your side remarks to the subject, girls.

1st Hon. Member: Remember me? I arose on a point of order.

Madame Speaker: (The Hon. Member has the floor.

4th Hon. Member (aside): Better she should have. Have you ever seen the floors in her HOME? I'm not the one to run down another Hon. Member, but of all the filthy...

Several Hon. Members: Shame... no, no... yes, yes. You said it kid, etc.

Madame Speaker: Order, order.

3rd Hon. Member: I'll have a butterscotch sundae and...

2nd Hon. Member: You will NOT. You told me you're on a diet and you ASKED me to make sure...

3rd Hon. Member: There you go again, sticking your nose into my business.

1st Hon. Member: But I was the one who arose on a point of order in the first place... remember?

4th Hon. Member (aside): Oh? And from where did SHE get the strength to arise? If you knew what I knew about what SHE does when she's supposed to be...

Madame Speaker: Order, order. Quiet! I can hardly hear. What is it that the Hon. Member does when the Hon. Member is supposed to be...

Madame the Prime Minister: Girls, Girls, GIRLS!

Madame Speaker: The Speaker recognizes the Prime Minister.

Madame Prime Minister: Well, I should HOPE so. After all, didn't I choose that lovely three-cornered Lily Dache you are wearing?

Madame Speaker: Well... I guess so. But don't you think pink would be more becoming than just plain old black?

4th Hon. Member: On her, it would be more becoming if she wore it over her face, instead of on the point of her pointed head.

All Hon. Members: Huzzah! etc.

5th Hon. Member: A quiet type who hasn't been heard from as yet? Move we prorogue. I wish to get home and wash the dishes.

All Hon. Members: No, no! Not that! Anything but that!

Air Cadet on Exchange Tour

A once-in-a-lifetime trip started today for 18-year-old WO2 Norman Russell, 18, of 3998 Holland Avenue. He is one of two British Columbians and 25 Canadian youths selected for a six-week international air cadet exchange visit. He is a member of the 89 (Kinsmen) Air Cadet Squadron. The party will go to Montreal, Washington, D.C., New York and Florida. Seeing the Mount View High School graduate off is Howie S. Reynolds, chairman of the Kinsmen sponsoring committee. Ex-Foreman Charged In Lumber Thefts

$2,000 Bail Set for Philip Le Brun, Accused of Stealing at Rocky Point

Bail of $2,000 was set for Philip Le Brun, Ritz Hotel, when he was charged in RCMP court here today with theft of more than 15,000 board feet of lumber from a federal building project at Rocky Point.

Le Brun, about 35, who was foreman of Bennett & White Construction Company Ltd., builders of a naval arsenal there, was remanded until July 22 without plea by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

It was Le Brun's second court appearance today.

He was fined $15 for speeding, $10 for failing to produce a driver's license and $350 court costs for failing to answer a summons, when he appeared in a special sitting of Esquimalt court at 9 a.m.

He had been halted on Craigflower Road, June 22, according to Esquimalt police chief G. Stancombe. The chief added that the fines were paid and on his release Le Brun was immediately arrested by RCMP authorities in the city police station.

9-YEAR MAXIMUM
The charge of theft of over $200 carries a maximum sentence of nine years, according to RCMP sources, in the event of conviction.

RCMP stated that the offense is alleged to have taken place over a period including most of June and early July.

The exact amount of lumber which disappeared from the construction project is not yet known but extensive investigations headed by Constable Peter Humphries of Sooke detachment and Corporal D. G. Rogers of the Victoria force indicate that more than 15,000 board feet is missing.

The construction company is not involved in the charges and Le Brun was not employed by the firm at the time of the investigation.

A rehearsal is planned for Friday afternoon.

The case is said to involve illegal logging activities at the arsenal site and subsequent sale of logs which were allegedly loaded on a truck and sold in Victoria.

Police would not reveal whether any charges of receiving stolen goods would be laid.

At press time no attempt to free Le Brun on the bail set had been made and he remained in RCMP custody.

Navy to Help Public See Duke at Naden

Although space is limited by the size of the grounds, naval authorities here are making efforts to see that as many of the public as possible can see the naval display and presentations on the visit of the Duke of Edinburgh Aug. 2.

Bleachers to seat approximately 6,000 people are being erected on the grounds in front of HMCS Naden waterfront off Colville Road, naval headquarters, said this morning.

In seating will be given wives, children and dependents of navy men, but there will be invitations to about 1,000 Victorians.

In addition there will be standing room on the high ground east of Naden waterfront for as many of the public as can be admitted.

Naval units are now practicing for a precision display for His Royal Highness. The affair will be the high spot of the Duke's brief visit to Victoria.

A rehearsal is planned for Friday afternoon.

Patton Drafts Arts By-Law Explanation

New Hope for Grants To Cultural Groups

City Council may yet give further consideration to requests for charitable grants from the Arts Centre, Symphony Society and Musical Arts Society.

It was learned today city solicitor Arthur Patton is preparing a letter for council consideration, explaining his earlier advice that a by-law will be required if any of the three cultural groups are to be given financial aid.

Meantime, Ald. Margaret Christie said today she felt the matter of grants would have to come again before council.

She is greatly disturbed because a majority of council voted to apportion all but $1,585 of the $25,000 fund it established earlier in the year for "grants, charitable and otherwise."

"I'm just ashamed of what the council did," Mrs. Christie said.

With respect to council's decision to turn over $8,000 to the Community Chest and let them apportion that amount to eight different agencies, Mrs. Christie said: "That was just a way of shirking responsibility. The council should have decided itself how that money should have been spent."

The Arts Centre and Symphony Society have protested that they were left out when council last Thursday distributed most of the money in its grant fund. These two groups are organizing to make further representations.

Royal Mail Ship To Dock Here on Maiden Voyage

The newest "Loch" ship in the Royal Mail Lines' fleet left London, England, today on her maiden voyage, and will reach Victoria in about six weeks, George Paulin Ltd., agents, said today.

She is the 10,000-ton Loch Gowan, built by Harland and Wolff, Belfast. Her maiden voyage will take her to Bermuda, Jamaica, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver.

An open air swimming pool is included in the accommodation. Loch Gowan carries general cargo, and has accommodation for 12 passengers. Cabins are paneled in Canadian walnut, with furniture in French walnut.

Six Navy Ships Visit Vancouver For B.E.G. Week

Six ships of the RCN Pacific Command will enter Vancouver harbor July 29, after exercises in the Gulf of Georgia area, and will remain in harbor for the duration of the British Empire Games.

With the flagship, the cruiser HMCS Ontario, will be the frigates Stettler and New Glasgow, and the minesweepers Sault Ste. Marie, Comox and James Bay.

Ontario returns to home base at 2.30 p.m. Friday after transporting members of the joint defense board to Kemano for a tour of the aluminum development there.

Fire Rates Cut On Local Houses

39% Lower in Esquimalt; City, Oak Bay Down 20%

All sections of Greater Victoria share in fire insurance reductions just announced by B.C. Underwriters' Association.

The reductions, effective today, range from 10 to 50 per cent, on all new and renewal policies covering residential properties and contents. Rates on business or mercantile properties are unchanged.

According to Oliver W. Pauline, assistant manager of Harbor Insurance Ltd., the revised rate structure will mean a saving of about 39 per cent in Esquimalt; 20 per cent in the city and Oak Bay, and 7 per cent in Saanich.

Central Saanich and North and South Saanich will save more than that since by the new regulations they are taken out of the rural (unprotected) classification and put in the same category as the municipality of Saanich. Effect of this is that those living in the outer area will enjoy almost a 50 per cent saving on insurance.

Where previously, Central Saanich residents paid $1.05 for $100 worth of insurance for three years they will now pay only 55 cents.

Mr. Pauline said that in the case of a $10,000 home in Victoria, built with a composition roof, it can now be insured for three years for $40 where previously it would have cost $50.

The new rates put Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt on the same rate level for the first time. In these three municipalities, it will now cost 40 cents for each $100 worth of insurance on buildings and 45 cents for each $100 worth of contents. The rate provides coverage for three years.

In Oak Bay the charge has been 47 cents per $100 on buildings and 57 cents per $100 on contents.

In Esquimalt, the old rate was 65 cents per $100 insurance on buildings and 75 cents per $100 on contents.

Saanich municipality, which is still in a different category than its neighboring municipalities, has a new rate of 55 cents per $100 on buildings and 60 cents per $100 on contents. The old rate was 59 and 69, respectively.

Where previously, Central Saanich residents paid $1.05 for $100 worth of insurance for three years they will now pay only 55 cents.

NO WONDER THIS LION IS WILD

An unexpected accident in the lion cage in the Wednesday afternoon performance of the Clyde Beatty circus at Victoria West Park gave Beatty a bad moment and drew the bon mot of the day from a chubby anonymous 10-year-old in the front row.

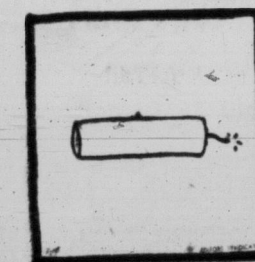

A lion mounting a series of steeple pedestals with spirited leaps got about eight feet up then missed. A cage-tender had failed to set up one of the pedestals.

Beatty later fined him $25 for carelessness.

Leo managed to grab the next pedestal with his front legs and hung frantically for awhile before finally dropping off—tail first.

"Gee... no wonder he's wild," said the youngster.

Fleas have a right to be depressed because they are constantly faced with decisions. First, they must decide whether to hang out on a high-class dog or a low-class human. If it's a dog, they must decide whether to take a short-haired one so they can get a sun-tan or a silky, long-haired one so their friends will say "My what a nice place you have here," when they visit. If the flea picks a human he'll be in constant danger. Compared to dogs, humans can't scratch as good with their hind legs but they take a lot more unnecessary baths and the flea could drown. Humans also get hit by automobiles, stick their fingers in wet paint and get haircuts. All this spells danger to the flea. Believe me, a flea leads a dog's life.

STRANGE WEST COAST ISLET AMAZES B.C. MUSEUM SCIENTISTS

Birds by Thousands—But Neither Trees Nor Mice

By HUMPHRY DAVY

"Birds, birds and birds; I never saw so many birds on one island," said Charlie Guiguet, leader of a provincial museum expedition which last week completed another phase of a zoological survey of islands off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Guiguet with Frank

Beebe, museum artist, and Frank Hubbard, biologist, explored the little known island of Solander, situated off Cape Cook about 200 miles north of Victoria.

Mr. Guiguet said they found a large colony of waterfowl inhabiting the cone-peaked island which rises nearly 1,000 feet above the sea.

While sharp-taloned falcons swooped above their heads, the biologist found on the island's slopes a colony of tufted puffins, a chunky sea-bird with an amazing triangular bill, which are rarely seen off the east coast of Vancouver Island.

They also came across a colony of sea lions and got within a few feet of the massive bulls, before the mammals plunged into the churning sea below.

The expedition, however, did not reap much from a scientific point of view. Mr. Guiguet, who is seeking new species of mice, said he laid 200 traps, but caught no rodents, which indicated that none existed on the island.

Mr. Beebe said there were no trees on the island, which from a biological point of view is a puzzle. Other nearby islands were covered with timber.

The island was only accessible by way of steep grassy slopes on the south side, he said. The north side was protected by a sheer precipice over 700 feet in height.

"We just got off the island in time," said Mr. Beebe. "A stiff wind began to blow as a federal fisheries vessel picked us up. It would be impossible to get off the island in a rough sea, as there are no beaches."

The trip was the third expedition the museum biologists have made to West Coast islands in the past five years. They have explored Triangle Island and the Scots Islands off the northwest tip of Vancouver Island where gales of over 125 miles-an-hour occur. Next year they plan to explore another island group.

GHOST CARS GET CREDIT

A 27 per cent reduction in accidents in the Colwood area has been reported by RCMP detachment.

Police said that in July 1953 there had been 132 accidents against a total of 97 this year so far, which were mostly of a minor nature.

There have been no fatalities and injuries have been light.

"Ghost cars" are credited with part of the improvement.

SHOPPING GUIDE

A Pure Silk Scarf...
Patterned With City Scenes

By PENNY SAVER

It is now possible to buy a pure silk square, patterned with scenes of beautiful Victoria. In glorious color against a white ground, the flower baskets on our main streets, the totem poles in Thunderbird Park and the red coats of mounties make this scarf unusually attractive. Other scenes represented are the Parliament Buildings, CPR building, Mount Baker from Shoal Bay, the Empress Hotel and Beacon Hill Park.

What is important to anyone thinking of buying one of these scarves, is the fact that they are colorfast. Price is just $1.39 each.

Top fashion right now are those tube knit blouses for wear in the sun with shorts, slacks or peasant skirts. The toppers are merely straight pieces of tubing, with a few inches of smaller tubing joined at the top to form sleeves.

When worn, they are the cutest things, with wide square necklines for exposure to the sun. Off, they look like nothing at all. In fact, you'd wonder how you'd ever wear them for they are elasticized and look many sizes smaller. Saw a pink and white stripe one today for $1.39.

Isn't it amazing the number of women you see wearing white gloves during the summer? Everyone wears them every day, it seems. And that presents a problem. If a girl tries to manage on one pair of white gloves, she'll find she's washing gloves every night. Therefore, most of us are looking for reasonably-priced white gloves, so that we may have several pairs and perhaps have to wash them out just once a week. Some I saw today are the popular cotton string type and are embroidered around the wristband with tiny pastel flowers... only $1.50.

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

It is very difficult for a person to remain quiet when she hears a person saying unkind or untrue things about others. But there are times when it is best to be silent. Such a situation is described in the following letter:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I have a very pretty sister-in-law who was quite the party gal before she married my brother. I know many not-nice things about her. She has a hard-working and wonderfully attentive husband, but she goes out to dances all the time and leaves him at home with their baby. What gets me is that she is trying to ruin the reputation of two divorced girls, who work hard to support their children. My sister-in-law tells everyone they are low and immoral. Few people know of my sister-in-law's past, so they listen to what she says about these girls. Don't you feel that divorced girls have more right at a dance, spending their own money and not stepping out on their husbands, than my sister-in-law has? Should I tell my sister-in-law that I know about her not-very-nice past, and tell her that these divorced girls are much more honest than she? They don't spend a hard-working husband's money, and drink and flirt coyly as she does."

(A)—I can readily understand that you are strongly tempted to silence your sister-in-law, by telling her she is no person to throw stones at anyone else, but I urge you to resist this temptation. It is going to be hard to do, but you must think of your own family in this matter.

Your sister-in-law could make things very unpleasant for the whole family if you put her on the spot. It would be a pity to have a family rift unless it were unavoidable. It can be, if you refrain from antagonizing her.

However, you should not stand by silently and let her try to ruin the reputation of these other two girls, whatever her motive may be. You can champion their causes; point out that they are not doing anything wrong by going to dances, and stressing the fact that they work hard to support themselves and their children.

Just avoid bringing your sister-in-law's past or present behavior into the matter. You can ask her what she knows about these girls to make her condemn them as she does, and you can try to point out to her how unfair she is. But don't try getting personal.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

Presbyterian Girls' Camp
Held at Famed Glinz Lake

Sixty-seven girls, nine to 16 years, from Sooke, Victoria, Nanaimo and Port Alberni, recently concluded a 10-day vacation at Camp Thunderbird, Glinz Lake. The outing was sponsored by Victoria Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church.

A program including Bible study, music, drama, handicrafts, swimming, picnics, hikes, outdoor games and campfires, was directed by Miss Grace MacKay, regional secretary for British Columbia, assisted by Miss Edith Anderson, deaconess for Westminster presbytery.

On "visitors' day," more than 125 parents and friends spent the afternoon at the camp. Rev. T. H. McAllister, Gorge Presbyterian Church, brought greetings from the presbytery; Rev. E. G. Thompson, Erskine and Knox Presbyterian Church, spoke briefly on what has been accomplished with this important church project in the past five years; Mrs. Gaines Cameron, president, Victoria presbytery of the Women's Missionary Society, paid a tribute to Miss MacKay and presented her with a silver tray in appreciation of her work.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Do You Dread Old Age?
Dullness, Boredom Worse

What do women dread most in life? I do not know because every individual woman is different but it seems to me that two of the top feminine dreads are growing old and insecurity.

Perhaps, we should dread most of all dullness, boredom, lack of awareness and the inability to feel keenly.

We should cherish any person or any experience which can lift us out of ourselves. We ask this not only of love and friendship but of the theatre, of poetry, music, art, the sunrise and sunset, and the great moon in the sky.

There is such a thing as an intoxication of the spirit, and the woman who possesses this will never grow old in the true sense. As long as you can cry when you hear beautiful music, feel a little mad over some exciting new discovery, wish to dance when you see the mists of early morning rise, derive a deep emotional and glandular and spiritual lift when you see the sun go down over the mountain tops, so long as daily life seems dramatic, you are young at any age.

GREAT SPIRIT

The physical repercussions of this intoxication of spirit are so great that it seems impossible that such a woman should ever become old or ill.

There are persons who live in such a perpetual state of awareness and spiritual intoxication that they get more out of life in a year than many folks do out of a lifetime. They have the touchstone of youth and health.

I quoted the following many years ago but today I want to repeat this quotation from Dr. Frank Crane: "Some men take alcohol to the point where the world changes, takes on a glow, the most common things become flooded with laughter or full of tears. This is an excellent condition in which to be, were it not for the reaction the morning after.

"I want ideas, sights, sounds, memories, hopes and all such spiritual cups. These have no trail of nausea. It is possible for a person to be so highly developed that those mind-stuffings which, to the average person, seem so thin and negligible, thrill him like wine."

Parties for Nedra McLaughlin

To honor Miss Nedra McLaughlin and Mr. Paul Williams who are to be married on Friday evening, Mrs. E. E. Moore arranged a party Wednesday evening to attend the lacrosse match and then go on to her home on Cadboro Bay Road for a late buffet supper. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a handmade lace cloth and centred with an arrangement of Ester Reed daisies and blue iris. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Costain, Mr. and Mrs. J. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kirk, Misses Jennifer Costain, Maureen McLaughlin, Gwen Kirk, A. Sutherland, Messrs. James Costain, Jerry McLaughlin and Gus Brager.

On Tuesday evening the girls of the Sidney Merchants softball team of which Miss McLaughlin is a member, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Arcadia Street home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Erickson. Gifts were concealed in a huge replica of a softball made of marshmallow candy, and presented with a corsage of pink rosebuds. The honor guest's mother, Mrs. J. Robinson, received carnations and sweet peas. Others present were Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. C. Pearson, Mrs. T. McEay, Mrs. F. Andrejko, Mrs. H. Taylor, Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. T. Turner, Misses Marlene and Darlene Taylor, Agnes Pearson, Olive Mair, Karen Mowat, Ruth Erickson, Jocelyn Richmond, Audrey Pearson, Donna Hepworth and Doreen Reiswig.

Tuesday evening Mrs. G. J. Costain was a tea-hour hostess at the Empress Hotel to honor Miss McLaughlin, who is her niece, and also her house-guest, Mrs. J. McLaughlin, a visitor in Victoria at present with her husband and three children. An English bone china cup and saucer in dogwood design was presented to Miss McLaughlin. Others present were Mrs. J. Meredith, Mrs. A. MacDermid, Mrs. L. J. Robinson, Mrs. E. Moore, Mrs. J. Gelling and Mrs. A. Deysmith.

A Mainland Engagement

An engagement of wide interest throughout the province is that announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lett of their daughter, Mary Evelyn, to George Eugene Plant of Montreal, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Plant of Port Alberni. The wedding will take place in September.

The bride-elect, an Arts graduate of UBC, took her degree of Bachelor of Social Work at University of Toronto, and has been for the past year on the staff of St. Christopher Settlement house in that city. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and of the honorary sorority Delta Sigma Pi. Her father is well known as chancellor of University of B.C.

The groom-to-be is a UBC graduate of 1950 class in mechanical engineering, and affiliated with Delta Upsilon. In his graduate year he was president of the student branch of American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Feted By Girls' Drill Team

Miss Jackie Quest, 1633 Pinewood Avenue, was hostess at a shower given by the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, to honor popular bride-elect, Miss Jean Spedding. A pink umbrella held gifts and a double gardenia corsage was presented to the bride-elect. Her mother, Mrs. F. Spedding, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. R. Johnson, received corsages of sweetheart roses and Talisman roses, respectively. Pink roses in a low black bowl centred the lace-covered table. Those present were Mrs. Elsie Hill, Mrs. C. W. Quest, and Misses Muriel Jennings, Tess Stewart, Norah Coleman, Margaret Creasey, Amy Koller, Audrey McCormick, Lorna Forsyth, Betty Collis, Gwen Mason, Elsie Jernslet, Marilyn Wilson, Juanita Campbell, Betty Dolman, Lucille McBurney, Thelma Brewer, Sheila Warren and Kay Morrish.

Another shower honoring Miss Spedding was given by Mrs. R. Bradshaw, 826 Old Esquimalt Road, assisted by Mrs. G. Bell. Corsages were presented to Miss Spedding, her mother, and mother of the groom-elect. Those present were Mrs. I. Ridley, Mrs. H. Nuttall, Mrs. Bert Duncan, Mrs. Ray Webb, Mrs. J. Emery, Mrs. S. Emery, Mrs. R. Benson, Mrs. F. Wood, and Misses Margaret Bell, Valerie Jeanes, Shirley Bell and Cathy Bradshaw.

Honored at Shower-Tea

Miss June Knappert, whose marriage to Mr. Gerald Hetherington takes place on Saturday, was guest of honor when Mrs. Mary Bruce was hostess at a shower tea, Sunday afternoon, on the grounds of her parents' home, 3500 Maplewood Road. Upon arrival the bride-elect was seated in a decorated boat, containing the many gifts. Corsages were presented to the honor guest; her mother, Mrs. A. Knappert; her grandmother, Mrs. N. Cooper, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. Eddison. Other guests were: Mrs. H. Stevenson, Mrs. A. J. Hilton, Mrs. R. White, Mrs. L. Barber, Mrs. D. Burnett, Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. H. Knappert, Mrs. E. Kostenuk, Mrs. H. Hetherington, and Misses Pat Hall, Darlain Hetherington and Penny Hall.

For Miss Hirsch

Bride-elect Miss Rosemary Hirsch was honor guest at a shower given by Miss Joyce Bull, 4201 Quadra Street, recently. Corsages were presented to Miss Hirsch and her mother, Mrs. S. Hirsch. Gifts were contained in a decorated basket topped with a large sailor's hat, in honor of the groom-elect, who is in the navy. Guests were: Mrs. S. Hirsch, Mrs. J. Bull, Mrs. G. Robinson, Mrs. C. Webb, Mrs. B. Gow, Mrs. G. Jones, Mrs. W. Stephenson, Mrs. M. Kubisheski, Mrs. R. Sanger, Mrs. J. McIntosh and Misses Joan Bull, Shirley Robinson, Rae Young, Irene Brunet, Nancy Cheu and Gracie Cheu.

Presents Smooth Look

The summer fabric story is lightly told in a smooth and polished manner. The look will be gay and feminine in crisp fabrics that are smooth and glossy or subtly textured.

Cottons, having proved themselves equal to all occasions, take on a rich aspect in lustrous and colorful tapestry weaves, damasks, and chunky piques. Cottons appear in the guise of shining satins and failles, straw-like textures and luxurious broads.

Active sportswear cottons are important for their washability, sturdiness and affinity to bright color. Separates are shown in poplin, twill, denim and sailcloth. Noteworthy also, in this day of travel, are the wrinkle-resistant suitings, such as tweeds, knits, cords and seersuckers. All feature washability and comfort; all are adaptable to soft and feminine styling. Cotton coats appear in a sumptuous variety of weaves and textures.

Couple Wed at Calgary In Double-Ring Service

In a quiet wedding in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Calgary, Alta., Deirdre Anne O'Halloran, younger daughter of Hon. Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran and Mrs. O'Halloran of Victoria, exchanged vows and rings with Herbert Krappell, only son of Mr. Franz Krappell of Vienna, Austria.

Father McLallen conducted nuptial mass and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, P.O. C. Desmond O'Halloran.

A waist-length, strapless model gown of palest pink nylon net and lace over taffeta was worn by the lovely bride. Her shoulders were covered with a matching fitted lace jacket and she had pink mits and pink kid slippers. A pink satin cloche embroidered with pearls held her shoulder-length veil of lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of red rosebuds and white carnations.

Deep pink taffeta formed the waist-length gown of bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Mackenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Mackenzie of St. Charles Street, Victoria. Her fitted jacket was styled with cap sleeves and she had a floral hair bandeau of sweet peas. White carnations and pink sweet peas formed her bouquet.

John Pederson was best man.

Close friends were received at a wedding breakfast by Miss Maureen Mackenzie and Mrs. C. Desmond O'Halloran. Pink candles and pink sweet peas decorated the bride's table, which was centred by a wedding cake skirting with white rosebuds.

For a honeymoon at Sylvan Lake, the bride wore a travel

Young Victoria Doctor Takes Hawaii Appointment

Shirley Adelaide-Marie Gunn, MD. BA. ATCM, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Gunn, Victoria Avenue, Oak Bay, left last Saturday by train and boat for Honolulu where she has accepted residency in pathology at Queen's Hospital.

While attending the University of British Columbia, she took leading roles in college operas, and was guest artist in leading roles at Meany Hall, University of Washington, Seattle. While at the University of Toronto Medical College, she did a leading role at Hart House. Her appointment as resident in pathology at Queen's Hospital will furnish credit for advanced training in any selected specialty.

Dr. Gunn graduated from the University of Toronto Medical School in 1953 and has just completed internship at the Vancouver General Hospital.

DR. GUNN

Dr. Gunn went to Seattle and then proceeded by train to San Francisco. While there, she visited teaching hospitals and the University of California, and then sailed on the liner President Wilson to Honolulu via Los Angeles. While in Los Angeles she will be the guest of Mrs. S. James, an old family friend. She will also renew acquaintances with a number of Victoria and Vancouver friends, including Miss Marje Sager and Mrs. Valerie Wenche.

Dr. Gunn will be remembered as one of Victoria's promising

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Garden Party Realizes More Than $1,600

A sum of approximately $1,650 was realized at the annual St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church garden party, held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Husband, Rutland Road, the Uplands.

Highlight of the afternoon was the appearance of Flo Chadwick, who came into the small bay at the foot of the garden in the course of her afternoon training swim. Crowds rushed to the shore to watch as the swimmer stood for a moment to wave and talk to the children before turning to glide swiftly into open water again behind her trainer's boat.

Other attractions on the program were a water ballet performed in the swimming pool and Scottish dances by pupils of Adeline Duncan. The Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) band played on the patio throughout the afternoon. Guests were welcomed by Dr. J. L. W. McLean and Mrs. McLean.

CONVENERS

Mrs. W. Draper was general convener; Mrs. G. Rawlings arranged the program; Mrs. W. Holder acted as tea hostess, and Mrs. R. A. Davis and Mrs. J. R. Howard presided at the tea urns.

Tea was served at small tables under a huge marquee and on the spacious lawn. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. C. W. Paulin, who was assisted by Mesdames T. Taylor, D. Scott, D. MacPherson, McKechnie, Greenaway, R. Armstrong, J. Clay, Robertson, R. Morrison, Davidson and H. Gordon.

Kitchen staff included Mesdames Houston, Hay, H. Lloyd, Bell, F. Griffiths, Yeomans, J. McCaskill and Jolly. Servers were Mesdames W. Colvin, J. Jackson, E. Newton, J. A. Miller, F. Wilmshurst, A. Cann, A. L. Stevenson, J. King, M. Baxter, P. Gillings, G. Muir, A. Draper, T. Jones, McCall, G. N. Clayton, W. C. Pendar, L. Wilson, A. S. McBride, J. R. Burridge, A. G. Tisdall, W. G. Flett, J. Henderson, B. Joseph, L. Johnson and Miss Arthur.

Assisting with other arrangements for the tea were Messrs. W. T. Turner, J. S. Mitchell, J. McCaskill, H. Lloyd, Don Paulin.

'Benefit of Doubt' Ruling Frees City Theft Suspect

A charge of breaking and entering Buckerfield's Ltd. was dismissed in city police court yesterday and unemployed Vancouver painter, Gerald Robertson, 21, was freed.

Magistrate H. C. Hall told Robertson that because the only evidence against him was the testimony of one man, he must give him the benefit of the doubt.

Buckerfield's was broken into June 19 when a large rock was hurled through a door window and the latch unfastened. A cheque-writing machine was taken.

Robertson was arrested in company with his room-mate, Ingram A. McGavin, 2663 Blanshard who later pleaded guilty to retaining a stolen article—the missing cheque machine.

McGavin stated to police that he had come into possession after Robertson had brought it to the room the pair shared. But Robertson denied he had ever seen the cheque-machine or that he had ever entered Buckerfield's.

McGavin said he had taken it downtown and left it at a Government Street shoe repair shop, then later transferred it to the home of a Pembroke Street resident. The latter finally returned it to Buckerfield's where police picked up the trail.

McGavin denied on the stand that he had ever seen the cheque machine before. "I never had nothing to do with breaking and entering Buckerfield's premises at any time."

He said that outside of a birthday party, which lasted from June 18 to 23 in McGavin's room, he had spent all his time looking for a job here. He added that he had subsisted on food orders he received for groceries from the Salvation Army here and the Catholic Church.

"The only evidence against you is that of McGavin, one person only—I must give you the benefit of the doubt," said Magistrate H. C. Hall in dismissing the charge.

Liquor Laws In Manitoba Under Probe

WINNIPEG (CP)—It was "gradually dawning" on the Manitoba liquor inquiry commission that open violation of existing legislation was bringing about "a great disrespect" for the present liquor law, commission chairman John Bracken said Wednesday.

He was commenting on a brief presented by the executive of the Winnipeg South Young Liberal Association which charged that in various night clubs, hotels, business offices and social clubs, the law was being broken either in fact, or in spirit.

The commission also heard a request from the Manitoba Hotel Association for women's beer parlors for licensed hotels. Both the Canadian National Railways and the central division of the Manitoba Tourist Association recommended "liberalization" of the province's liquor laws.

The Young Liberal submission, presented by Joseph O'Sullivan, said these facts were being brought out not to attack anyone but to show that the law was being "flouted and disregarded at these clubs by some of Manitoba's most prominent citizens who evidently accept calmly a wholesale disregard for certain aspects of the law."

Mr. Bracken thanked Mr. O'Sullivan for his "frankness" and said "the laws must be either unenforceable or someone has failed to enforce the law—one or both."

The hotel association brief also asked consideration be given to allow television sets in beer parlors; closing hours of the parlors be extended to 11 p.m. instead of the present 10 p.m.

The CNR, represented by D. O. Owens, asked that permission be given to serve liquor in transcontinental trains passing through Manitoba.

2,000 Homes On New Sewer In Saanich

Despite technical difficulties, Saanich work crews have laid down 26 miles of pipes in its $2,500,000 municipal sewage project.

H. D. Dawson, chief engineer, in his latest progress report on the project, disclosed today that 137,000 feet of sewage pipes have been installed to date.

About 2,000 homes situated west of Douglas Street are now able to use the system, the report said. However, so far only 500 homes have connected with the system.

Work crews established a week record last week by completing work on a total of 4,447 feet of pipes. The previous record was established in last July when 3,874 feet of pipe was put down.

The project is expected to be completed in 1956. It includes the installation of 108 miles of pipes in the thickly populated areas of Saanich.

Sewage pipes are now being installed in Carey Road and Harriet Road districts, bordering Douglas Street.

Mr. Dawson also reported Langford Road, which has been closed for about six weeks while a culvert was being built, will be open to traffic within the next few days.

MUTINEER SETTLEMENT

Pitcairn Island was discovered in 1767 but was not settled until 23 years later when mutineers of the Bounty landed there.

J. E. Jamieson, Veteran B.C. Publisher, Dies

ARMSTRONG, B.C. (CP)—John E. Jamieson, publisher of the weekly Armstrong Advertiser, died here Wednesday. He was 75.

Mr. Jamieson served as secretary of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association for 15 years and on his retirement from the office in 1946 was accorded the first honorary life membership in the organization.

Survivors include his widow, three sons, John M. and James E., both of Armstrong, and William R. of Banff, Alta.

Funeral service will be here Friday.

Mainland Man Gets 3 Months For 'Fish Pole' Theft Try

A record of previous convictions brought a three-month jail term to Vancouver warehouseworker Douglas White, 23, Wednesday when he was sentenced for attempted theft of three men's shirts.

His companion, Christopher Hanley, 21, who was similarly charged, was given option of a $50 fine because the offense was his first.

The pair, who blamed the crime on the fact that they were "crazy drunk," were arrested after an unidentified citizen told police they were acting suspiciously in the doorway of the store, early Monday. Police said

"it's so much easier than in my day!" Even Beginners make delicious sparkling Jams and Jellies with Certo

YOU'LL BE PROUD OF JAMS AND JELLIES MADE THIS QUICK, EASY SHORT-BOIL WAY

WHAT CERTO IS—Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jelling substance in fruit—extracted and refined to help you make delicious jams and jellies quickly and easily.

SAVES TIME AND WORK—It takes only 15 minutes from the time your fruit is prepared to make a whole batch with Certo. That's only about a third the time needed for old, long-boil recipes.

ONE-MINUTE BOIL—With Certo you need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil. No more long, tedious boiling and stirring over a hot stove. It's so quick and easy.

50% MORE JAM OR JELLY—There's no long "boiling down"—so hardly any precious juice wastes away in steam. You average up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

NATURAL, FRESH TASTE AND COLOR—And the boil is too short to dull the fresh fruit color or spoil the lovely natural, fresh-fruit taste. They remain in your jam or jelly.

NO GUESSWORK—With Certo you get kitchen-tested recipes that end all guesswork. Follow the simple directions carefully and you can be sure of delicious, sparkling jams and jellies.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Refuse to allow upset, odd condition at home to interfere with performing your worldly responsibilities with thoughtful consideration. Make repairs, tune up dwelling in evening.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Your mind is racing overtime, trying to discover, uncover what's happening about you, best way to turn to your own particular needs, requirements. Be calm, dispassionate, objective.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Money, property matters that interest, concern you can be improved—but it's essential that you do use basically sound, proven business methods of operation if you are to get right results.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you are overflowing with all kinds of interesting ideas that can aid your upswing tremendously, even though it's necessary you do not step on anyone else's toes for greatest gain.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—Urges to get out from under obligation you willingly assumed merely comes from impatience, not fundamental difficulty with procedures, so stick to your guns. Be firm.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)—Listen to what talented, although eccentric friend has to say rather than flouncing off in huff that can take warm admirer out of your life in bewilderment. Be open-minded, but follow proven principles.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY... Friday's child is one of those very unique individuals who is chockful of talents but needs some very specific directions, training how best to use it, not only to his, or her, advantage, but wisely for everyone concerned, in which event your progeny will be a real joy and inspiration to all with whom any dealings may take place. Fine chart for public work or matters that require emotional fervor or understanding as well as any merchandising occupations that appeal to your unusual offspring.

U.S. Heat Wave Kills 54; Canadian Air Brings Relief

CHICAGO (UP)—Cool Canadian air was pushing into southern Missouri, and States today but the sun still blazed down on the parched south.

At least 54 persons have been killed by the heat since the torrid weather spread across the nation four days ago.

The long-awaited cool air also brought violent storms which killed at least four persons last night.

City after city reported shrieking winds and torrential downpours as the cool air smashed head-on into the hot, muggy atmosphere.

Temperatures skidded within minutes and millions of Americans had their first comfortable night's sleep in days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said

Yachtsmen Tested

Small boats took the time light at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's mid-week series Wednesday, with only two "A" class yachts representing the larger craft. Light and variable breezes tested the seamanship of the skippers.

Stars, Lightnings and Snipes sailed off their second races in the series in which crews displaced their skippers.

Results:

A class - 1. Max Young's Alon; 2. Hubert Wallace's Buccaneer III.

Stars - (six starters), 1. Peter Thomson's Duz (skipped by Dave Ockenden); 2. Peter Townsend's Aquila (J. Wood ward); 3. Lionel Edwards' Libra (J. Cormons).

Lightnings - (five starters), 1. Spencer Davis' Rania (Gerard Dickey); 2. Roy Murdoch's Pukeko (Ramsay Murray); 3. Fred Packford's Frolic (Bill Kinsey).

Snipes - (four starters), 1. Ken Gifford's Klatawa (D. Roberts); 2. Lyle Russell's Ishkoodah (N. Messerschmidt).

Japanese Invasion Fleet Was Not Sighted, Says RCN

OTTAWA (CP) — After nearly 13 years, the navy has topped a rumor that the Canadian auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert, commanded in the early days of the war by the late Commander Charles T. Beard, RCN, of Esquimalt, might have sighted but failed to warn the Americans of the approach of the Japanese fleet toward Pearl Harbor.

The Crowsnest, monthly navy publication, has published an article entitled "Tag With the Enemy" and subtitled "An Answer to the Wartime Question: Did HMCS Prince Robert sight the Japanese battle fleet in the Orient?"

A navy spokesman said Wednesday this rumor got around the West Coast after the Prince Robert reached Esquimalt, December 10, 1941. The cruiser had escorted Canadian troops to Hong Kong the previous month.

The rumor got into print in a British Columbia newspaper in December, 1952, but the navy did not deny the story then or was unaware of it.

The spokesman said the Americans had never made any accusation against the Canadian Navy and that to his knowledge no historian, naval or otherwise, has ever written of the matter.

The Crowsnest article says that at no time was the Prince Robert within 500 miles of the Japanese force which attacked Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, and sank or damaged 20 U.S. warships.

Death Toll 76 In Landslide

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP) — Seventy-six dead had been counted Wednesday night and more bodies were being dug out of the landslide masses that buried possibly more than 100 persons Monday.

Tons upon tons of earth and stone roared down from a mountain peak five miles from here, engulfing a house, two buses, a private car and a private car. At least 80 were injured.

RECORD FLIGHT
The first nonstop flight between Montreal and Amsterdam — 3,418 miles — was made by a Royal Dutch Airlines plane.

VOL. 121, No. 165

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1954 — 26 PAGES

PRICE: 7 CENTS SATURDAY, 10 CENTS

Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi! I just never know what the daily mail is going to bring me. Answering the postman's ring is one of the biggest adventures of my life.

Right now, my fan mail is all very sane and the majority of it consists of good luck messages from Victorians. Of course, I also get quite a flood of business mail.

But it isn't always like this; sometimes my personal mail makes me laugh, sometimes it makes me cry and sometimes it is so crazy it lands in the waste-paper basket after I read the first paragraph.

The letters I remember best were the ones I got after I succeeded in swimming the Catalina Channel after failing in my first attempt.

I received one letter from a married couple who said I had saved their marriage.

It seemed they had been on the verge of divorce for some time. The night they saw me on television, they had a terrific argument and agreed to split up.

They weren't speaking to each other so they turned on the TV set and saw me swimming. They became so fascinated by the swim that they sat there all night, until they saw me complete the swim. In their letter they told me, "After seeing you swim through that cold, rough water for 14 hours; we felt that if you had the courage to keep with it, our little differences didn't mean much. We haven't even thought of a divorce since and are having the happiest days of our marriage. We owe it all to you."

Another letter at the same time was in a slightly different vein. This was from a young U.S. marine who said, "Baby, I saw you swim on TV and you're terrific. How about you and me centring-sailing it. With your name and my experience, we could make a million."

Then there was the promoter who wanted me to swim across the Atlantic Ocean, from New York to Liverpool.

The idea was, I boarded an ocean liner at New York, jumped into a swimming pool and stayed there, paddling away, until the boat reached England. This, according to the fellow who wrote the letter, was swimming the Atlantic ocean.

'DISTURBING', SAYS JUDGE

Three Evatt Aides Named in Spy Probe

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — An Australian judge told a spy hearing today it is "disturbing" that three members of the Australian Labor party leader's staff were mentioned in a Communist-inspired document as sources of information.

Nothing in the document reflects upon Dr. Herbert Evatt, leader of the federal Labor opposition party, the judge said.

"What is disturbing is that three members of his staff are mentioned as sources of information, some of it confidential."

Only one of these, Fergus O'Sullivan, was named in the inquiry. O'Sullivan, aged about 27 and an Australian newspaper man, is a former press secretary to Evatt.

Owen said the author of "document J" had mentioned other sources of information including another of Evatt's secretaries who holds a high position in political life.

A third member of Evatt's staff was mentioned as having his photograph in security files.

Mendes-France Races to Meet Zero Hour

French Premier Talks to Eden, Molotov on Indo-China Terms

GENEVA (UP)—The West worked out new Indo-China peace proposals today that would permit French Premier Pierre Mendes-France to obtain an honorable cease-fire before his Monday deadline.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today his urgent talks with the British and French in Paris brought an understanding on Indo-China "much more complete than has heretofore existed."

"I believe that we have found a formula for constructive Allied unity which will have a beneficial effect on the Geneva conference and it carries no danger that the United States will abandon its principles," Dulles said on his return here from his sudden trip to Paris.

Mendes-France has stated he will resign if a cease-fire is not established by Monday.

Mendes-France and his top aide, Jean Chauvel, conferred for an hour with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in setting forth the West's terms. Informal sources said they covered:

1. A cease-fire line, partitioning war-ravaged Viet Nam on or near the 16th parallel.

2. Provision for France to retain the Tonkin gulf port of Haiphong, at least temporarily, as a staging area for the French Expeditionary Corps.

3. Neutralization of Laos and Cambodia, the two smaller states of Indo-China.

4. Postponement of Viet Nam elections until conditions become more settled.

5. Exclusion of Communist nations from the international control commission to be set up to guarantee the armistice.

The French premier invited Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to dinner tonight and the two are expected to discuss this Western formula for settlement.

Mendes-France also planned to consult with Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai, probably Friday. It will be the third meeting between the two men.

The busy French leader has scheduled other meetings today with Viet Nam Foreign Minister Tran Van Do and Laotian Foreign Minister Souvanna Phou Li. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was scheduled to talk with the Cambodian and Laotian delegates.

HANOI, Indo-China (UP)—Thousands of Communist Viet Minh troops rolled over two new French positions northwest of Hanoi today and fanned out in a drive apparently aimed at seizing all French-held territory north and west of this threatened city.

The French high command said elements of several Red regiments seized Chi Kuan and Trung Ha, near Son Tay about 25 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The Communist troops then pushed forward in a drive menacing the whole network of roads supplying the French defense positions in the Son Tay area.

Three full-scale battles were reported along three of the roads: route 11 west of Son Tay, route two northwest to Vinh Yen and Vietri and route one north and northwest to Phu Lang Tuong.

Poison Pills Stolen TORONTO (CP)—Six thousand poisonous pills were reported stolen from a truck today in west-central Toronto. Police went from door-to-door in the area to warn parents that children might mistake the small pink pills for candy.

Tory Official Claims Visit 'Just Holiday' A high-ranking Conservative organizer today denied her visit to Victoria this week has any connection with the inter-party battle now raging in B.C.

Miss Hilda Hesson, national organizer for the Conservative Women's Association, said she is "out here for a holiday, and nothing else."

She arrived in the city on the eve of Saturday's crucial executive meeting at Vernon, when strong anti-Drew factions in the party will move a vote of non-confidence in national leader George Drew.

"Naturally I'm interested," she said, "but I'm an outsider. Mr. Drew I know is very strong in the party, and if they wanted to make such a fuss they could have forced a leadership vote at the national meeting in Toronto this spring."

For more than four hours the younger sister of Queen Elizabeth danced with some of the 600 officers.

Although the dance was billed as a young man's affair by Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander of British forces in Germany, the Princess danced almost exclusively with married men, most of them well over 30.

For the entire second half of the evening Margaret sat chatting with her various escorts.

WHITE MAN'S WEATHER FLOP ON BLACK MARKET

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Uganda's government radio station is dropping its broadcasts of weather forecasts. Native African listeners, officials found, considered the prediction a definite government promise.

If the weather later didn't match the morning forecast, the officers said, the natives held it proved that all the government announcements made that day are "a pack of lies."

IN VANCOUVER INTERVIEW

Stevenson Predicts U.S. Will Stay in UN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Adlai Stevenson, leader of the Democratic Party in the United States, passed through Canada's third largest city Wednesday night en route to an Alaskan vacation.

The unsuccessful 1952 presidential candidate, traveling with his youngest son, John, 18, made three major points during a press conference.

1. He has no formula for world peace.

2. Canada must continue its "noble" work in world affairs.

3. The United States must remain within the United Nations "whether Red China is admitted or not."

World peace, he said, "is something we will have to work on for a long time to come, just as we have worked on it in the past."

"Canada must continue to work for world peace and understanding just as she had done so nobly and so long."

On his 1956 election year plans, Mr. Stevenson would only say: "I really haven't the remotest idea. I'm tempted to say once is enough. And if I knew I wouldn't tell you."

On Red China: "She hasn't qualified for membership in the United Nations. She hasn't demonstrated she is a peace-loving nation willing to live up to the terms of the UN charter. Until she does so she should not be admitted. When the time comes and China can show she qualified, then . . . the U.S. will not prevent her taking a seat."

In a signed statement, Marmur said he planned to commandeer the plane to Africa because he always "wanted to live in the jungle."

Marmur's first shot ripped through the plane's fuselage about half-way along the passenger compartment and narrowly missed first officer J. R. Davidson of Vancouver, who was approaching the plane on the apron at the Seattle-Tacoma international airport.

The second bullet pierced a cargo door and tore through the tail of the plane, Davidson said. "I heard the first shot as I walked to the plane," he added. "I didn't know what it was. When I got to the ramp, the stewardess tore out past me—she didn't even stop to say 'hello.'"

"The second shot was fired just as she came through the door."

ORDERED OUT After police were summoned Marmur was ordered to throw out his gun and leave the plane. Commenting on this stage of the incident, Capt. Al Dodd of Vancouver said Marmur threw the gun at one of the policemen's faces but missed.

"It went off a third time when it hit the ground," Dodd said. "He had a full clip in it. It was really murderous."

In his statement to police, Marmur contended he did not intend to hit Miss Abraham.

He said he bought the pistol Tuesday in Tacoma and took a bus Wednesday to the airport.

"When I got off the bus I went in the woods and loaded the gun. Then I went to the administration building and walked out to the plane—it was standing on the airport apron, with a door open."

After airport authorities had inspected the plane, the holes in the fuselage were taped up and the aircraft continued its flight to Victoria and Vancouver.

The plane landed down at Patricia Bay Airport at 5:40 p.m., two hours behind schedule.

Coffin Pleads Innocence; Judge Warns Newsmen

PERCE, Que. (BUP)—Wilbert Coffin, charged with the murder of an American bear hunter, pleaded "not guilty" and said he was "ready" to go on trial for his life when he made his initial appearance in court here today.

Earlier during the trial opening Mr. Justice Gerard LaCroix turned down two defense motions designed to assure the English-speaking Coffin that the trial would be held in his own language.

Coffin, a prospector and jack-of-all trades, went on trial for his life in the little grey stone Perce courthouse at 10 a.m.

The first motion by defense attorney Raymond Maher was that all courtroom remarks be made in English. LaCroix remarked that the actual trial had not yet started, and said he would permit preliminaries to be discussed in either English or French.

Then after 35 of 150 talesmen were excused from duty and the court ordered another 150 Gaspé fishermen and farmers to be subpoenaed, Maher asked that all of them be English-speaking.

Coffin was brought here by a police escort during the night and was placed in the lone cell of the village jail, which is on the ground floor at the rear of the court house. Three rows of barbed wire were added to the top of a 15-foot fence which surrounds the building before the accused arrived.

JAILED FOR YEAR

The 43-year-old veteran bushman had been in jail at Quebec City for a year after being charged with the murder of Richard Lindsay, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. The mutilated body of the young bear hunter was found a year ago near a long-dead campfire 65 miles west of here in the primeval Gaspé bush.

Scattered nearby were parts of the remains of Richard's 47-year-old father, Eugene, and his friend, Albert Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Police said it was obvious the three men had not only been shot, they had been carved with knives and then gnawed by the huge black Gaspé bears who have never been known to attack a live human.

Czechs Free U.S. Troops After 12 Days

WAIDHAUS, Germany (UP)—Czech border guards carrying machine guns released seven U.S. soldiers today after holding them prisoner for 12 days on trumped-up spy charges.

The Americans walked to freedom through the barbed-wire-lined streets of this village on the Iron Curtain frontier after West German and Red Czech border guards had solemnly exchanged "receipts" for their safe return to U.S. army custody.

The seven, headed by Capt. Jack M. Davis of Raytown, Mo., were seized by the Reds when they wandered across the forbidden Communist frontier on a July 4 outing.

Newsmen were denied permission to talk to the men until U.S. intelligence officers questioned them about their 12 days in Czech Communist hands.

He has been a prominent figure in B.C. since the war. He served for a time as B.C. superintendent for the Veterans' Land Act and after the disastrous Fraser River flood in 1914 acted as commissioner of Fraser Valley rehabilitation.

No date has yet been set for the arbitration hearings to begin.

Vancouver Greet Aussie B.E.G. Team

VANCOUVER (CP)—Seventy-two athletes and managers with the Australian British Empire Games team arrived here early today with enough champions with them to indicate a top placing for the "down under" country in the games.

The contingent, one of the largest athletic airifts on record, arrived aboard the Canadian Pacific Airlines Empress of Rio de Janeiro from Honolulu.

Strains of "Waltzing Matilda" came over a mobile loudspeaker unit at the international airport as the group filed off the plane.

John Michael Landy, world record miler, arrived Wednesday and was given a reception equal to that of the larger group.

Landy became an Australian national hero when he was clocked at 3:58.0 for the mile run, breaking the "dream mile" record of England's Roger Bannister.

D'ARCY BALDWIN

Ex-LRB Chief To Arbitrate Civic Strike

D'Arcy Baldwin Named By Wicks

Col. D'Arcy J. Baldwin, MBE, former chairman of the B.C. Labor Relations Board, will arbitrate the wage dispute between the city and members of its outside working staff.

Col. Baldwin's appointment was made known today to both parties involved in the dispute, in identical letters sent by the labor department. Selection of Col. Baldwin was made by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

It is his duty now to call both the city and the union to present their arguments relative to the wage dispute which caused last month's civic strike. The 250 outside workers were off for two weeks, and returned to work only on the condition the issue would be explored by an arbitrator appointed by the labor minister and that his decision would be binding on both sides.

SPECIAL SESSION

City Council is expected to be called to a special meeting, probably early next week, now the appointment has been made.

Col. Baldwin was chairman of the Labor Relations Board from Jan. 1951, to early last month when he resigned and took up the post of managing secretary with the Roadbuilding and Heavy Construction Association of B.C.

He has been a prominent figure in B.C. since the war. He served for a time as B.C. superintendent for the Veterans' Land Act and after the disastrous Fraser River flood in 1914 acted as commissioner of Fraser Valley rehabilitation.

No date has yet been set for the arbitration hearings to begin.
